NO WAR DECLARED BUT WAR IS RAGING IN BALKAN STATES

Result of the Struggle Will Decide Whether Bulgaria Shall Be Predominant In Southeast Europe.

FIGHTING VERY HEAVY AND LOSSES APPALLING

Servians and Greeks Reported Victorious, But This Is Denied by Bulgaria—Roumania Is Mobilizing.

Saloniki, July 3.—King Constantine and his staff moved their headquarters to Kilkish this morning. It is reported that another great battle began today at Jukli, about 5 miles northwest of Kilkish. The tenth Greek division has entered Guevgheli.

London, July 3.—The condition of affairs in the Balkan rupture is extraordinary. The twenty-four hours which the Bulgarian government accorded to Greece and Servia to cease operations have expired. During the same period Bulgaria undertook to abstain from hostilities in order to give Russia time to intervene in favor of peace. But hostilities are being carried on by both sides, apparently with the fierceness characteristic of the Balkan soldiers, and no declaration of war has yet been made. The respective diplomatic representatives are still at their posts.

There is now only the faintest hope that Russia or the powers will be able to prevent the struggle which is to decide whether or not Bulgaria shall be predominant in the Balkan confederation.

A new complication arose today in the decision of Roumania to mobilize her army. What role Roumania will play is quite unknown, but she is generally expected to follow her traditional policy of waiting on events, in readiness to take advantage wherever it may be obtained with the least risk and trouble. Roumania's mobilization causes uneasiness in Austria, where it is regarded as a defeat for Austrian diplomacy.

Bulgaria Very Reticent.

Little news has come to hand today of the military operations in Macedonia, and owing to the fact that Bulgaria, as in the former campaigns, is very reticent concerning her military movements and because the reports from the Servian and Greek side are clearly exaggerated, it is exceedingly difficult to form any estimate of the actual position of affairs.

It is believed from the disposition of her troops that Bulgaria has carefully prepared a plan to place some of her forces between the Greeks and Servians and prevent their junction and it is reported that the Bulgarians are now executing a great flanking movement in the direction of Egri Palanka.

The Belgrade government issued no reports from the theater of war today, but according to a dispatch from Premier Pachitch to the Servian legation at London, the Servian losses in the first three days fighting were 6,000 killed and wounded. This included the great battle at Ovtchepolye. The Servians captured 2,000 prisoners and 100 guns from the Bulgarians, whose casualties exceeded the Servian. Sixty of the prisoners were officers.

That very heavy fighting occurred is confirmed by the arrival of 2,000 wounded at Belgrade.

Official reports issued at Athens claim the capture of Guevgheli and Kilkish after severe fighting and heavy losses. It is added that Bulgarian prisoners declare that the Bulgarians are preparing to attack Saloniki.

Greek King is Active.

The Saloniki correspondent of the Daily Telegraph describes King Constantine of Greece as an active disdaying amazing rapidity in his military movements. The Greek second division, which left Saloniki after disarming the Bulgarians Tuesday afternoon, camped at night at Baldja, 15 miles to the north, where the king arrived the next morning. He ordered a general advance of eight divisions and at dusk Wednesday the entrenched positions at Kilkish were taken at the point of the bayonet.

The correspondent adds:

"I believe that the battle of Kilkish will be immortalized as one of the finest examples of lightning offensive in the military records of the world. The Bulgarians made a great stand within three miles of Kilkish but the Greeks, 8,000 strong, delivered a terrific bayonet charge, taking the positions and causing immense losses."

GOVERNOR DEVISING PLAN TO PAY TEACHERS

First Problem Tackled by Him Is Raising Loan to Relieve Their Pressing Needs.

After the legislature adjourned for the week yesterday and the governor was given a breathing spell from the rush of callers that have occupied a large part of his time since his inauguration, that official got busy devising a plan to raise some money for the school teachers.

As there is no money in the state treasury, with which to pay these badly treated servants of the state, the funds needed to relieve their immediate necessities will in all probability have to be secured by a temporary loan. Just how to get this money and to get it on the best terms for the state is the first problem which the governor has set himself to solve.

The governor is not fully satisfied as to the extent of the authority given him in the amendment to the constitution adopted last year, increasing the amount of the temporary loan, that the chief executive may raise from $200,000 to $500,000, and he is looking carefully into the authorities before he takes action in the matter.

Money Hard to Get.

Another difficulty that he will have confronting him, after he has satisfied himself as to his authority to make the loan or has obtained authority from the legislature to make it, will be getting the money. Dr. R. G. Matheson, president of the Georgia School of Technology, has just returned from New York, and was in conference with the governor for some time Thursday.

Dr. Matheson reports that the money market of New York is tighter than it has been at any time since the panic of 1907. He says that it is almost an impossibility to borrow money in that market on any reasonable terms.

Now the governor would prefer to make the loan in Georgia, if the bankers here can furnish the state with the money needed, but it is more than likely that he will have to go to New York for it. Even there he may find it hard to get, and a more than ordinary rate of interest may be demanded.

It is a well-known fact that the problem of paying the teachers when their money is due is one of the most serious ones that the governor will have to handle. He not only hopes to secure the money at an early date to relieve their pressing needs, but also to secure such legislation from the present general assembly as will end the delay in payment in coming years.

House May Act Next Week.

In this connection attention may be called to the joint resolution which was introduced in the house this week by Representatives Moye, of Johnson, and Moss, of Cobb, requesting the governor to borrow money as soon as possible to the extent of his constitutional authority in order that a payment may be made on the school fund. This resolution will probably be reported by the rules committee and action taken when the house meets again next week.

GUS STOVER STABBED IN FAMILY QUARREL WITH FATHER-IN-LAW

Dahlonega, Ga., July 3.—(Special)—When Bill Stover, of Auraria, started a row with Lon Jett today Gus Stover, interfered and was seriously stabbed by Jett.

Gus Stover is a son-in-law of Jett, and the son of Bill Stover. Remarks that Bill Stover made about Jett's daughter, Gus Stover's wife, started the difficulty.

Sheriff T. M. Ray was notified and reached Jett's home shortly afterward. Jett was arrested and placed in jail. Stover is in serious condition.

DOCTOR TO BE CALLED FOR CAPITAL "DRUNKS"

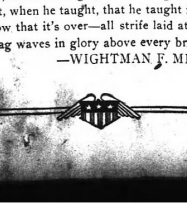
Washington, July 3.—Hereafter, under the new excise law just put into effect in the District of Columbia, any person suspected of having "drunk not wisely, but too well," will be taken to a hospital for examination by a physician. Orders to this effect were issues today by Superintendent of Police Sylvester. The examining physician in each case will be called upon later to act as an expert witness in police court whenever the convivial prisoner protests his innocence.

ON "THE EASIEST WAY" GERMANS PLACE BAN

Cassel, Germany, July 3.—The official censor here has forbidden the production at a local theater of the American play "The Easiest Way," which ran for a long time in the United States.

Robbed of Gems Worth $25,000.

Long Branch, N. J., July 3.—H. L. Haas, a New York lawyer, reported to the police today that jewels valued at between $25,000 and $35,000 had been stolen from his summer home here last night during the absence of the family. A servant heard a noise during the night, but failed to find the intruder.



JULY 4, 1913

"Three Cheers for the Red-White-and-Blue!"

Here comes the flag that my father fought!
But he taught his son to love it, .
And to place no other above it.

He thought, when he fought, that he fought for the right;
He thought, when he taught, that he taught for the right;
But now that it's over—all strife laid at rest—
One flag waves in glory above every breast!

BANDIT IS KILLED; BROTHER WOUNDED

Officers Surprise Andrew and Randall Solomon, Wanted for Car Robberies in Coffee County.

Waycross, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—When they approached the home of Henry Marrier, half a mile from Kirkland, Andrew Solomon and Randall Solomon, wanted for car robberies, burglaries and assaults with intent to murder, were late today surprised by a posse of five Coffee county deputies. When he responded to the call of halt by bringing his shotgun up for action, Andrew Solomon was shot and killed, and Randall Solomon received three wounds from which it is feared he will die.

Randall stopped shooting before his brother and called to the officers not to shoot again. Andrew ran for over twenty feet before he was brought down. Both men fired at the officers, who were concealed in a barn and a chicken house, but failed to hit any of them.

Officers Are Threatened.

Although in a dying condition, Randall told members of the posse that if he lived through this affair he would certainly get some of them. His defiance rang out in spite of his weakness.

In the party that caught the Solomons were N. Kirkland, Jeff Kirkland, Early Shaw, Ike Purney and Charlie Stalls. There are two more members of the gang that officers want, men supposed to be named Smith and Register. They made no attempt to leave the swamp today, nor have they been seen by any of the people living around Kirkland.

It is said that the Solomons were going to Marrier's house to get him to join them on a fishing trip. Deputy Kirkland got from Randall Solomon a diamond ring taken by the gang when a drug store at Pearson was robbed. Keys of all kinds were also taken, indicating that the Solomons have been implicated in the numerous burglaries reported through this section.

Since last February Randall Solomon has been wanted for escaping from the Berrien county gang, where he was serving a fifteen-year sentence for arson.

Wanted for Assault.

Andrew Solomon has been wanted for assault with intent to murder in Coffee county. His wife is in Waycross and has been making this city her home for some time. Up to a late hour tonight she had not been notified of the fate of her husband.

According to a statement made by Edgar Carver, the first member of the gang arrested, the Solomons were hired to do the shooting that wounded three men in a Kirkland store a month ago. Twenty-five dollars was the amount they were to be paid for the shooting, and Malcolm Tanner was the only man the Solomons were instructed to shoot. That the Solomons received only $5 of the amount promised was also a part of the statement.

The body of the man killed was brought here tonight, the wounded man being taken to Douglas.

CHARGED WITH MURDER HE COMMITS SUICIDE

G. H. Bailey Slashes Throat With Razor After Being Refused Bail.

Anniston, Ala., July 3.—As a climax to the preliminary trial of G. H. Bailey, a prominent merchant, charged with the murder of C. W. Saunders here about two weeks ago, the defendant committed suicide in the county jail tonight somewhere between 10 and 11 o'clock by cutting his throat.

It is thought that he cut himself with a safety razor blade, as some of the prisoners in the jail were found to be in possession of blades. However, nothing could be found in his cell or on the ground below his window with which he could have cut himself.

A relative of the deceased says that Bailey was unconscious all afternoon after the trial, when he stated to those that people swore to things he had never heard of; also that that the gruelling he was put through by the prosecuting had been very trying. His body was turned over to Coroner Murphy to be prepared for burial.

He leaves a wife and several children. He was related by marriage to Judge Pelham, of the court of appeals of Alabama.

He was only this afternoon refused bail after his trial.

Belgium Accepts Bryan's Plan.

Washington, July 3.—Belgium today became the twentieth nation to accept the principles of Secretary Bryan's peace plan and to ask for details.

"PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES"—

ONLY ONCE HAS HEAT WAVE BEEN EXCEEDED

Weather Man Holds Out But Little Hope for Cooler Weather Soon.

Friday, according to the weather man, will be about as hot as was Thursday, or Wednesday or any day of the past seventeen, which means that the mercury will hover around the 90-degree mark, and in the afternoon a good thunder shower is promised to cool things off.

The grasp of the heat upon Atlanta and the entire state still holds and from weather forecasts there is small chance of its being alleviated. With one or two exceptions the entire latter half of June and the first few days of July have furnished a heated term which comes near to breaking the weather bureau records.

Reports of June temperatures sent from the south Georgia stations show that in practically every town where the bureau is represented the mercury has daily been at or above the 90-degree mark regularly, and north Georgia has been almost as hot.

Hottest Since 1902.

Only once in the 24 years of the local weather bureau has the record of the present hot spell been excelled and that was during the time from June 25 to July 11, 1902, when the mercury reached a daily maximum of at least 90 degrees.

For the past several days the maximum here has been about 88 degrees, but on Thursday the thermometer registered 92 degrees at 2 o'clock. The fact that the atmosphere contained less moisture made the conditions a little less oppressive.

With all the heat of the day, there has not been a night when the air did not cool off enough to make sleeping pleasant, and this, which has always been noted as the redeeming feature of a hot spell in this section, has been thoroughly appreciated for the past three weeks.

The official temperatures of Thursday were, 80 degrees at 9 o'clock in the morning, 84 degrees at 10 o'clock, 88 degrees at noon and 92 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The temperature fell as gradually as it had risen until by nightfall it had dropped below the eighties.

LIEUT. J. H. TOWERS TO VISIT OLD HOME

Washington, July 3.—(Special.)—Lieutenant J. H. Towers, of the United States navy, who was seriously injured in an aeroplane accident at Annapolis recently when an aeroplane in which he and Ensign Billingsley were flying plunged down 1600 feet, killing his companion, is convalescent. He will leave Washington tomorrow to visit his mother in Rome, Ga. He has been given three months' leave of absence.

In his fall he received internal injuries which will require several months longer to heal. Lieutenant Towers has not lost his zeal for flying, despite his narrow escape from death. On his return to duty he will probably be put in charge of the navy aviation work.

Freight Tariffs Suspended.

Washington, July 3.—Schedules in 220 freight tariffs filed by railroads operating in Central Freight association territory were suspended today by the interstate commerce commission until January 8, 1914. The suspended schedules materially advance rates for the transportation of grain and grain products from points north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi rivers to destinations in other parts of the country.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN ACTING PRESIDENT OF UNITED STATES

Washington, July 3.—William Jennings Bryan tomorrow will be "acting president of the United States." This title for years has been given popularly to the ranking officer of the administration in Washington in the absence of the president and vice president, and the Fourth of July will find Mr. Bryan "sitting on the lid."

The president leaves early tomorrow for Gettysburg; the vice president went to the battlefield today with the congressional delegation and most of the cabinet officers will spend the holiday at their homes.

Business of the nation practically will be at a standstill during the day. All the departments will be closed. At the capitol activity will be confined to the senate finance committee room.

MORTALLY WOUNDS GIRL AND THEN SHOOTS SELF

Prompted by Jealousy, Hugh Harrison Fires Two Bullets Into Ruth Hester.

Savannah, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—phompted by jealously Hugh Harrison, shot and mortally wounded Ruth Hester, 21 years of age, in a house on Broughton street west, this afternoon, then turning the pistol on himself in an effort to end his own life he sent a bullet through his head. Both are in the hospital and will probably die.

Two of the shots fired by Harrison took effect. One entered the right temple and came out above the nose. The other passed through the woman's wrist. After firing the shots Harrison rushed from the room with a pair of manicure scissors Harrison is making a desperate attempt to cut his throat with the scissors when they were wrenched from him.

There were no witnesses to the shooting. Before losing consciousness Harrison declared the woman shot him and then shot herself. She was mad, he said, because he intended to spend the Fourth in the country with relatives.

DELAMATER ARRESTED ON WIFE'S COMPLAINT

Drunk and Disorderly Case Is Docketed Against Well-Known Druggist.

At the demand of his wife, Dr. Ira DeLamater, a well known pharmacist, was arrested by mounted policemen and carried to police headquarters yesterday afternoon, where he was charged with drunk and disorderly conduct.

The DeLamaters live at 60 Currier street. He is said to have returned recently form a trip to south Georgia, and to have appeared Thursday afternoon at his residence, drinking heavily. Mrs. DeLamater, who is reported to be suing for divorce, ordered him away from the place.

Upon his refusal to leave, Dr. DeLamater's wife called in two mounted policemen. Her husband left the residence, but returned later. The police were again called, and consequently placed the druggist under arrest. At police headquarters, he told that he had gone to his home for the purpose of trying to persuade his wife to reconciliation and to visit his children. He admitted having been drinking.

Dr. DeLamater has figured in other police court episodes recently. Some time ago he created considerable sensation by barricading himself in a Capitol avenue home and defying the police to enter and arrest him.

BURLESON IS DEFIED BY POSTMASTER FISK

Frisco Official Says That He Can Only Be Removed by President Wilson.

San Francisco, July 3.—In reply to a demand, after a request from Postmaster General Burleson, Arthur G. Fisk again refused today to resign as postmaster of San Francisco. In answering a telegram from Burleson, he wired:

"I do not recognize the right of any one to remove me except the president of the United States."

Postmaster General Burleson's telegram to Postmaster Fisk was as follows:

"Referring to your telegram 30th ultimo, your resignation is demanded and your removal will be effected for administrative reasons in the interest of better and more economical service at the San Francisco postoffice."

Postmaster Fisk replied:

"I cannot know what administrative reason may have arisen that would lead you to overthrow the custom and courtesy of years an dto demand the resignation of an official who has served as postmaster of this city for nearly ten years and who holds the commission of the president of the United States, entitling him to continue to hold the office for three years longer.

"In view of the correspondence on file at this office, I cannot understand your statement that the administrative reasons for my removal are to obtain better and more economical service. You have recently caused this office to be inspected by eastern postoffice inspectors and if this investigation has developed deficiency in my office and any valid reason for my removal it ought to be made public. I do not recognize the right of any one to remove me except the president of the United States. Notwithstanding my great respect for the office you hold, I must, in justice to myself, respectfully, but firmly, refuse to comply with your demand for my resignation."

Burleson Will Remove Fisk.

Washington, July 3.—"If Mr. Fisk does not resign he will be removed."

That was the reply made late today by Postmaster General Burleson to the refusal of Postmaster Arthur G. Fisk of San Francisco, to relinquish his office. Mr. Burleson made it clear that President Wilson and he were of one mind on the matter. He said that complaints of inefficiency of service in San Francisco had reached the department from many sources. Finally, formal charges against Mr. Fisk were filed and it was decided to give the postmaster an opportunity to resign.

FRAMING COMMISSION BILL FOR COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—A committee of citizens having in charge the campaign for a commission form of government for Columbus met this afternoon and went over the proposed bill which is to be introduced in the legislature giving the people of the city an opportunity to vote on this issue. The present mayor, Hon. L. H. Chappell, is a member of the committee. Both the local newspapers favor a commission form of government.

LIMPING GRAY MEN ONCE MORE CHARGE UP CEMETERY RIDGE

Handful of Veterans of Gen. Pickett's Division Re-Enact the Famous Dash That Made Them Immortal.

PRESIDENT WILSON MAKES SPEECH TODAY

Addresses Were Made Thursday by Several Governors and by Speaker Clark and Vice President Marshall.

Gettysburg (Pa.) Battlefield, July 3.—A handful of men in gray re-enacted today the charge of Pickett across the field of Gettysburg. Up the slope of Cemetery ridge, where death kept step with them in '63, 150 veterans of the Virginia regiments of that immortal brigade made their slow parade. Under the brow of the ridge in the Bloody Angle, where the Philadelphia brigade stood that day, was a handful in blue, scarcely larger, waiting to meet the onslaught of peace.

There were no flashing sabers, no belching guns; only eyes that dimmed fast and kindly faces behind the stone wall that marks the Angle. At the end, in place of wounds or prison or death, were handshakes, speeches and mingling cheers.

The veterans in gray marched for a quarter of a mile over the ground that they traversed during the charge. They came up the slope in column of fours, irregularly but responsive to the commands of Major W. W. Bentley, of the Twenty-fourth Virginia, one of the few officers of either Pickett's or the Philadelphia brigades present.

Faded Confederate Flag.

Ahead of them marched a band, and well down the column was a faded confederate flag, its red field pierced with many holes, its cross bars dim and its shaft colored with the sweat of many a man who died that it might fly high in the last desperate effort to pierce the union lines.

Its progress was slow and painful, for the timothy in the field was high and its plowed surface was not easy for world-weary feet. Up to the very edge of the stone wall, covered now with tangled vines, shaded by trees and peaceful as a summer lane, they marched in the hot sun while the band played "Dixie." There they stood for half an hour while their comrades in blue peered across at them.

The blue line formed behind the stone wall. Overhead floated a faded standard of the Second army corps. Behind them were the statues of the Philadelphia brigade and the Fourth United States army battery, where General Armistead died.

Flags Crossed in Amity.

As the men in gray formed in a long line facing the wall the stars and bars and the flag of the second corps were crossed in amity; the stars and stripes were carried to the top of the wall that came to watch burst into a cheer. Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Pennsylvania, made a long speech, and Major Bentley answered him on behalf of the south. The veterans in gray were given a medal provided by John Wanamaker. They crowded over the stone wall, shook hands and the charge was over. There was many a picturesque figure in the line that came up the slope. W. H. Turpin, of the Fifty-third Virginia, appeared in the uniform he wore on the day of the charge. His feet were bound in cloth. he had an army blanket strapped to his back and he calmly smoked a long-stemmed corn cob pipe.

There were fifteen regiments in Pickett's division that day in '63, and the histories say that 5,000 men charged across the field. Every field officer was killed or wounded except one lieutenant colonel, and two-thirds of the line officers met the same fate. Of the 5,000 who charged only about 1,000 returned to the confederate position. The Philadelphia brigade numbered about 1,100 men and lost 452 in killed and wounded.

"Governors' Day" in Big Tent.

"Governors' Day" in the big tent was a great success. The enclosure was crowded with thousands of cheering veterans. Love of country was the keynote of the speeches. Present were the congressional committee of twenty-one representatives and nine senators, headed by Vice President Marshall and Speaker Champ Clark of the house.

One practical suggestion came from the meeting. Governor Cox, in the course of his address, urged that the National Soldiers' home at Johnson City, Tenn., be turned over to the confederates for use as a home for the veterans who fought under the southern flag. The audience voiced its approval by tremendous applause.

Vice President Marshall was the first speaker. In his speech he said:

"This occasion wipes out the last of the Mason and Dixon line. As Bob Taylor once said, 'There is now no fore'ecane 'atwe'en the north and the south except cold bread and hot biscuit.'"

Speaker Clark Made a Hit.

Speaker Clark made his usual hit with the audience. He commended the sentiment of Mr. Marshall that only in America could there be witnessed the scene of once bitter foes, lasting hands in brotherly love fifty years after they had fought each other, and he recalled that it took England 50 years to get around to the point of erecting a statue to its great prince, Oliver Cromwell.

"The valor displayed in the war," he fervently declared, "was not northern valor, but it was not southern valor, but I thank the Almighty God it was American valor. The greatest thing of all it to be an American citizen."

Governor McCreary, of Kentucky, followed.

Then came Governors Sulzer, of New York, Mann, of Virginia, a war veteran, who produced great enthusiasm by declaring that he had known no others as well in 1861 as we do now the war would have been impossible; Baldwin, Connecticut; Hanna, North Dakota; Miller, Delaware; Haines, Maine, and Ralston, Indiana.

Governor Cox, of Ohio, was a favorite and his confederate soldier song suggestion appeared to strike a popular chord.

Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, aroused a great laugh in saying in a mock serious manner:

"What an indescribable pleasure must be experienced by Vice President Marshall, who presides over the senate, and Speaker Clark, who presides over the house, to come here and look into the faces of so many honest men." He concluded with a patriotic appeal that brought forth loud cheers.

Restrictions on Liquor.

As a result of a conference late today between Dr. Dixon, of the state health department, and Judge Swanson, of the county license court, all saloonkeepers were notified to close their barrooms at 11 o'clock each night during the remainder of the week and were forbidden to sell liquor to intoxicated men.

Although the many veterans stayed over to hear President Wilson speak tomorrow, the celebration practically ended tonight with a fireworks display. Before it began several hundred veterans from the south marched over to headquarters to bid their chief, Major General Liggett. They brought a band which played Dixie and Maryland, My Maryland. General Liggett stood in front of his tent and reviewed the march.

The regular army will pay its tribute tomorrow to the men who died on Gettysburg fifty years ago. Brigadier General Hunter Liggett, U. S. A., in command of the camp today prepared a general order directing every officer and man in camp to stand at attention from noon until five minutes after that hour tomorrow morning, when the flag in front of his headquarters will be half-masted.

Resolutions by Confederates.

At a meeting of confederates the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Resolved, By the ex-confederates at Gettysburg assembled, that our thanks are due, and are hereby tendered to the state of Pennsylvania for initiating the movement which has made it possible for the survivors of the two great armies which fought in this illustrious field fifty years ago, to meet in friendship here today and plant a monument of peace, a monument which shall stand as the symbol of American valor, manhood and brotherhood.

"Resolved, That we, for ourselves and pledge not only ourselves, but all our loved sons and kindred to the undivided loyalty to the government of the United States and to the flag of our country.

"Resolved, That we take pride in the fact that the armies of the confederacy is due the credit of demonstrating the utter impossibility of the dismemberment of the union. When we consider that 600,000 men of the very flower of chivalry, as good material as was ever organized in a fighting force, and directed by such commanders as our loved Robert E. Lee and his lieutenants, inspired by a sectional devotion such as has not elsewhere been known in history, failed to separate the states, we see that the demonstration was complete, that the thing was not to be done and our fallen men must give pause to those who in the future would contemplate such an undertaking."

TRACKAGE SURVEY PROPOSED BY HALL

Tax Committee Would Increase Assessments on Railroads—Last Survey Twenty Years Ago.

Assessments on railroad trackage in Atlanta will be increased approximately $500,000 by the city tax committee.

Councilman Orville H. Hall, member of the committee, has prepared a resolution asking council to appropriate $500 to be used in making a survey of all railroad trackage within the city limits. The resolution has been approved by Chairman Charles Whiteford Smith, of the tax committee, and will be offered in council Monday afternoon with the indorsement of the entire committee.

"I am informed that the last survey of railroad tracks in Atlanta was made twenty years ago, and returns for taxation are being made on the same figures," said Councilman Hall Thursday afternoon. "I am also reliably informed that the railroads entering Atlanta are more in the city of College Park than they do to this city."

Members of the tax committee estimate that the increase will be approximately $150,000 or $500,000.

$5,000 Increase in Taxes.

The city's revenue from taxation, at the rate of $1.25 per $1,000, will be between $4,500 and $5,000.

The tax committee recently caused Captain H. M. Hilton, city engineer, to make a survey of all the property controlled by the lessees of the Georgia railroad, including the Atlanta joint terminals, in the city. From the survey an assessment of $4,000,000 was made and submitted to the committee. The basis of the agreement of the Georgia road to make return this year guarantees an increase of $2,000,000 in cash on account of the additional tax values.

"We are going to ask council to appropriate the money to make a thorough survey during this year, so there is up to its work in time," Councilman Hall explained. "During the early part of the year we asked the finance committee to appropriate money for the construction department for the employment of an additional engineer and ten more rodmen, but were turned down. Now the city is forced to spend money in dribs and drabs to get a record of the tracks that are being made on the department."

Council's tax committee is bending every energy to increase the city's revenue through taxation. Chairman Smith, who was selected by Mayor Woodward to succeed Alderman John and C. D. Meador, at the head of one entire committee and is working to make a record.

Would Split Tax Office.

The committee is working on a scheme to restore harmony in the tax office, and it is understood that on Monday Chairman Smith will offer in council a resolution authorizing the committee to split up the tax office under separate departments, with the assessors, J. N. Harrison and C. D. Meador at the head of one department, and Chief Clerk G. B. Beauchamp at the head of the other department.

There is now pending before council, on a motion to reconsider, a resolution by Alderman James R. Nutting providing for the consolidation of the two departments under one head, with the tax committee in control. Chairman Smith and Councilman Hall gave notice of reconsideration when council passed the ordinance, and at the special meeting next Monday Alderman Nutting raised the question that two councilmen could not demand a reconsideration of a measure adopted by the entire body of council and the aldermanic board. Mayor Pro Tem. Warren sustained Alderman Nutting and instructed Clerk Walter Turner to withdraw the reconsideration from the records.

Since council took action it is said that councilman A. R. Foster has joined against the Nutting consolidation.

Mayor Woodward is opposed to the merger of the offices, and has intimated that he will veto the measure when it reaches him.

Assessors to Be Re-Elected.

Two tax assessors—Harrison and Malone—will be re-elected by council Monday afternoon. Their terms will expire Monday afternoon. The fact no opposition has cropped up. Both will be returned to office.

The term of license inspector H. T. Hayes also expires Monday. The office of license inspector is one of the very few within the gift of the mayor. It is understood that Inspector Hayes will be returned.

EXHIBIT ASSURED BY MANUFACTURERS

Committee Named at Big Banquet to Complete Arrangements for Permanent Exhibit of Goods

One hundred Atlanta manufacturers gathered around the banquet board at the new Hotel Ansley last night, organized a Manufacturers' association, and assured their support for a permanent exhibit of Atlanta-made goods. It was the sentiment of the meeting that no temporary exhibit be held this year.

Seventy-three of the big manufacturers present subscribed for space in the permanent exhibit, and others are expected to fall in line within a few days.

The amount thought necessary for such an exhibit—$125,000—will be raised in a short while, and the permanent exhibit housed as soon as possible. Only products made in Fulton county will be placed on view there.

President Moore, of the chamber of commerce, presided, and in his address urged that Atlanta every possible be taken to make the permanent exhibit a success, and that it be placed upon a firm foundation.

Brooks Morgan, chairman of the committee on the permanent manufacturers' exhibit, told of the work done elsewhere by permanent exhibits, and how a city of the size of Chattanooga had made such a success.

Bolling H. Jones, of the Atlanta Stove works, said: "The day of selling whole carloads has passed. If we have a well-located building for this permanent exhibit, the small out-of-town merchant will come there and make up his carload or half a dozen different products. Otherwise the chances are that he would not buy from us at all."

Would Cost But Little.

Mr. Jones said that such an exhibit could be run permanently, and that the selling expense would not be over 3 per cent, he thought, to each exhibitor. He urged this method of advertising goods, as it reminded the public of what they needed.

R. G. Orr strongly urged the permanent exhibit, saying that the best way to get out-of-town trade is to let the out-of-town merchants know that Atlanta manufactures a variety of things.

Samuel C. Dobbs, advertising manager for the Coca-Cola company, urged the permanent exhibit from the standpoint of its educational value.

"Our great need is to wake up," he said. "We've got to educate our children and tell 'em about Atlanta-made goods. The manufacturer who makes goods and does not advertise is like the man who sits at his girl in the dark. He is the only person who knows it. Success mainly consists of merit, plus merchandizing, plus advertising."

J. F. Stevens, of the Stevens Engraving company, said that if other cities could make a success of the matter, that Atlanta certainly should.

Forrest Adair, Atlanta's well-known real estate man, put a "punch" into the meeting in his customary pleasant manner.

"Some of us in this city are extremely ignorant of what is going on here," he said. "We boost Atlanta all the time, but fail to learn that we can buy Atlanta-made stoves, furniture, and those here. We must educate ourselves as to what Atlanta really does, and this permanent exhibit will accomplish that."

Committee to Be Named.

After it was decided to establish a manufacturers association, President Moore appointed Morgan Adams, chairman of the permanent exhibit committee, would appoint a committee of seven within the next few days to get the exhibit under way at once.

This committee will have charge of the work of establishing the permanent exhibit.

The matter of purchasing or renting a permanent location for the exhibit will be taken up later.

The following Atlanta manufacturing companies signed up last night for space in the new permanent exhibit:

J. P. Stevens Manufacturing company, J. K. Orr Shoe company, F. E. Block company, Atlanta Stove Works, Foote & Davies company, Atlanta Manufacturing company, Reid Print ing company, Nunnally & Moreau Manufacturing company, A. M. Robinson company, Southern Engraving company, Atlanta Paper company, Burnett, Bell & Klapper Furniture company, Van Winkle Motor Truck company, Norris, Inc., White Provision company, Williamham-Tift Lumber company, Empire Cotton Oil company, Mitchell Manufacturing company, Atlanta Gas Light company, All-Star Manufacturing company, Southern Spring Bed company and the Southern Saw and Machine Works.

An Exaggerated Report.

(From Tuffer.)

Linderson, I hear that Billems turned all his property over to his wife. Heartbroken his son, who married a chambermaid, and all everything is in college.

Tuffer—Oh, he wasn't so mean as that! Under the terms of the will, the college will have to support the son, at a salary of $7.00 a week, to run off his expense.

GRIFFIN CONVICTED OF WRECKING BANK

Mercy Recommended by the Jury—Sentence to Be Passed Saturday.

Athens, Ga., July 3.—J. W. Griffin, 51 years old, president of the defunct Athens Trust and Banking company, tonight was found guilty of wrecking the institution. The case was given to the jury this afternoon. Sentence will be passed by Judge Brand Saturday. Mercy was recommended by the jury.

Robert H. McCrary, cashier of the defunct institution, pleaded guilty last Friday to implication in the wrecking of the bank and was sentenced to three years in prison.

The bank, which was a state institution, failed in January, 1912.

MORTUARY

J. B. Cass, Griffin.

Griffin, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—J. B. Cass, a telegrapher in the employ of the Central railroad, died here from injuries received twenty years ago, when he jumped thirty feet from a burning railway trestle and dislocated his liver. Mr. Cass came to Griffin a year ago from Holton, Ind., his birth place. He was a member of the Order of Railway Telegraphers. His wife and son survive him. His remains were carried to Macon today for interment.

Mrs. Irene T. Baker, Savannah.

Savannah, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—Mrs. Irene Trenholm Baker died today at the residence of Harris M. King. Mrs. Baker was formerly Miss Irene Trenholm. Mrs. Baker lived for a short while in this city and later on in Marietta, at which place she continued to reside until several years ago, when she came to live with her daughter, Mrs. King. She is survived by two children, D. Trenholm Baker, of Marietta, and Mrs. Harris M. King, of this city.

Mrs. Nancy Maynard, Griffin.

Griffin, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—Mrs. Nancy Maynard, one of Griffin's best known women, died Wednesday afternoon at the residence of L. A. Scott, at the advanced age of 82. She was a member of the local Christian church, and leaves many relatives to mourn her death. She was buried this morning at County Line church, Rev. A. D. Mize conducting the funeral services.

Mrs. Fannie Jarvis.

Mrs. Fannie E. Jarvis, of 76 Cherokee avenue, died yesterday morning at a private sanitarium. The body is now in Fair & Brandon's, whence it will be taken this morning at 7:35 o'clock to Canton, Ga., for funeral and interment. Mrs. Jarvis is survived by three sons and one daughter.

ANNUAL MEETING TODAY OF RURAL LETTER CARRIERS

Prominent Atlantans will address the annual meeting and convention of rural letter carriers at 9:30 o'clock this morning in the ballroom of the Kimball. Mayor Woodward will welcome the visiting delegates to Atlanta, and Fred L. White will respond for the letter carriers. The program includes addresses by Postmaster John Marshall Slaton, Clark Howell and Congressman Thomas W. Hardwick.

Fifty delegates registered at the Kimball last night, and 200 more are expected today. Three hundred badges have been ordered for delegates who are expected to arrive before the convention adjourns, and considerable business will come before them for their consideration at the Saturday session.

JAPAN SENDS A NOTE TO THE UNITED STATES

Washington, July 3.—The latest Japanese note, supplementary to the rejoinder of June 4 on the California alien law, protest was delivered today to Secretary Bryan by Ambassador Chinda. The note is simply an elaboration of some of the points contained in the rejoinder.

Following the policy pursued in the preceding phases of the negotiations the state department and the Japanese embassy, by agreement, withheld from publication any details of the details of this last note. It is believed, however, to relate in large part to the development of the contention that such legislation as the Webb act in California and measures generally resembling it impeach by other western states are distinctly discriminatory against the Japanese and in consequence they place the United States government, as responsible for the acts of its constituent states, in the position of denying to the citizens and subjects of a great power with which America is in treaty relations of that equality which has always been recognized as a necessary condition to the maintenance of such relations. Thus it is suggested the protest rests upon the grounds of international equity in an upon the exact stipulation of treaties.

Concerning another phase of the Webb law, that which touches upon the right of inheritance, however, the Japanese contention is that therein the existing treaty has been specifically violated. The retention and extension of this allegation is regarded in some quarters as significant of the purpose of the Japanese foreign office, in the event of failure to secure satisfaction by direct negotiations, to suggest arbitration of the issues under the terms of the special arbitration treaty, protocols for the renewal of which were signed last week by Secretary Bryan and the Japanese ambassador.

TURN VEREIN WILL HAVE ANNUAL PICNIC

The Atlanta Turn Verein's basket picnic at Germania park, a short walk from Lakewood, will open this morning at 10 o'clock and will close tonight with a ball in the pavilions, one of the best bands in Atlanta having been secured for the afternoon and evening.

During the morning hours there will be games for the children and even for the grown-up folks, while in the afternoon, as well as in the evening hours, the pavilions will be given over to dancing.

The entertainment committee, Newman Lasser, chairman, has arranged for the Turners who have no baskets because they have no families by providing a luncheon, which will have with it a Brunswick stew. Lakewood cars stop 200 yards south of Germania park.

PERMANENT REGISTRATION PROPOSED IN ARNOLD BILL BY BROTHER LEGISLATORS

Two well-known Georgia brothers have introduced in the house of representatives a bill for providing for permanent registration along the line of the suggestion of Governor Slaton.

One, Hon. R. J. Arnold, is the representative from Henry county, and the One, Hon. E. J. Arnold, is the representative from Oglethorpe. These are the only two brothers in the legislature.

The former, Dr. Arnold, went from Oglethorpe to Henry thirty years ago, after attending the University of Georgia. He became a prominent citizen of Henry county. Since the election of the legislature this time without opposition, this being the first time that any new member was elected from that county without opposition.

Both of the Messrs. Arnold are very much impressed with the fact that the people of Georgia are put to unnecessary annoyance every year in the matter of registration, and they believe that the full purpose of the registration law would be met if registration became permanent, providing that annual payment of taxes be made a prerequisite to enrollment on the voters' list.

The plan of the Arnold bill is to qualify under the present registration law of Georgia. The bill further provides that the tax collectors of Georgia shall make up annual voting lists accordingly from the permanent registration, certifying for the voting list only those who are registered and who have paid the taxes required of them.

The bill will be taken up for committee consideration at an early date and its passage is believed to be assured. Among other things it provides "that any person who, in accordance with the provisions of the registration laws of this state, has been duly registered as a qualified voter, shall thereafter be entitled to permanent registration and be entitled to vote in the county in which he was so registered without hereafter required to again register with the tax collector of such county. And when any qualified voter of this state has once been legally registered by the tax collector of any county in this state, it shall be the duty of the tax collector, before submitting his lists to the registrar of the said county, to re-enter the name of such voter who was previously registered upon his list of qualified voters, unless such registered voter has died, has removed beyond the limits of the county, has been convicted of an offense involving moral turpitude, or has failed to pay the taxes which by law he was required to pay for the year immediately preceding, or any year preceding that in which such general election is to be held."

60 Days Instead of 6 Months.

In addition to the above bill, the Messrs. Arnold have introduced a bill changing the present registration law so as to provide that the voting list of a county shall be closed 60 days instead of 6 months before election, as now provided by law.

"Sane Fourth" for Atlanta; Many Picnics at the Parks

The celebration of the "glorious fourth" and the 137th birthday of the nation bids fair to be as quiet as any mouse, in so far a sthe extensive of fireworks are concerned.

Late last night Chief of Police James L. Beavers had issued no orders regulating the use of fireworks in the city limits to celebrate the fourth. Nobody seems particularly grieved at this, however, for it is a holiday, and there are plenty for one and all kinds.

Besides innumerable private excursions to the country many organizations have made arrangements for all-day picnics in the woods and a regular old-fashioned good time, with basket-dinners and games.

All city parks will be open today and will be the scene of many picnics. Piedmont park will be the favorite this afternoon, when hundreds of bathers will take a dip in the lake.

Old Ponce will be crowded to the capacity of the grandstand and bleachers, when Bill Smith's boys go after New Orleans this afternoon. There will also be innumerable amateur baseball games about the city.

The city hall and state capitol will be closed and the order of the day, and all business houses that can will give either whole or half holiday.

The weather man has promised a fair day with the possibility of a thunder shower this afternoon—just to cool things off.

Fourth of July will be generally observed at the city court house today, but practically all of the offices will be closed during the entire day.

The sheriff's office, clerk's office and solicitor's office are those which will not open at all. Others will be open for business during the earlier part of the day.

The criminal division of superior court adjourned on Wednesday, but one or two branches of the civil division are expected to be running as usual.

Reception Tonight Will Open Summer Camp for "Hello" Girls

In a beautiful grove on Brown's Mill road, nearly 21-2 miles from the nearest car line, the Southern Bell Telephone company is completing plans for a summer camp for the girl employees of the company, to be known as Camp Wyanoke, which is an Indian name for undisturbed rest and contentment.

Covering a space of 7 acres, Camp Wyanoke will be a glorious retreat for the girls on their summer vacations. There will be sports galore and a bathing pavilion has been erected on the grounds equipped with a piano donated by Ludden & Bates.

Camp Wyanoke will be dedicated to the girls at an informal reception in the camp pavilion tonight, and a large crowd will turn out for the dance which will be open to the girls of the Southern Bell Telephone company and their invited guests at 8 o'clock this evening. Refreshments will be served, and red, white and blue decorations will lend a patriotic atmosphere to the pavilion for the Independence day dance.

Some of the girls will remain in camp after the festivities, but most of them will wait for the arrival of additional tents on next Monday, before joining the summer camp.

The camp equipment, representing an investment of over $1,000, has been furnished free by the telephone company and it is expected that the camp will have camped at Wyanoke before the week is over. The camp is located just below the home of D. B. Jackson, father of the assistant manager of the company, who has taken a great interest in the camp project, arranging for all such conveniences as water and sewage.

Sanitary arrangements, including shower baths, a swimming pool and the most modern equipment will be provided, and there will be swings and hammocks galore, in which the girls can read the latest current literature and daily papers which will be supplied by the authorities.

Though the camp equipment is free to the girls, the running expenses are to be provided along on usual lines, the expenses of each day to be prorated among those in camp, not to exceed an assessment of 50 cents a girl. The employees would have it no other way, save that they pay their share, and the company, recognizing that it is the girls' camp, allows them to determine such details of administration.

Miss Cathryn C. Tatum is in charge of the arrangements for the camp, and co-operating with her are the chief operators, Mrs. Bettie Mitchell, Miss Ada Meier, Miss Alice Means, Miss Estelle Rutledge and R. E. Robinson.

"All the Southern Bell officials are taking a keen interest in this camp, as if it was their own party," said Assistant Manager Jackson.

There will be eight tents on the grounds in Camp Wyanoke and it has been estimated that there will be forty girls in camp throughout the summer. Applications will closely for her vacation, and the faces will be constantly changing so as to include all the girl employees of the telephone company before the summer is over.

In the selection of a matron the officials have been fortunate to obtain the services of Mrs. Mattie Kirkpatrick, of Decatur, Ga., who is well known because of her interest in such affairs. Barnes, Sterchi & Co. have donated furniture for the camp and others have sent engraved stationery for use by the girls at Camp Wyanoke.

All the employees of the company are enthusiastic over the treat in store for the girls, which is one solution of the problem of how can a poor girl, earning a small salary, spend her vacation. Of interest, especially to employees, is the best means of getting to camp. The Hapeville car to Jonesboro real, for a nickel, and an auto bus from there to Wyanoke makes the total transportation 10 cents a trip.

MILITIA MUST KEEP OUT OF CONTROVERSIES

National Guard officers are forbidden to discuss any phase of pending military legislation, according to orders from Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash, who insists that it is wrong for the militia as an organization to take part in what might be construed as a political controversy.

Officers and members of the militia have been given to understand that disobedience of the orders will subject the offender to a courtmartial.

ONLY ONE MAIL TODAY IN RESIDENCE SECTIONS

Observing national holiday hours, the Atlanta postoffice will shut up shop at 12 o'clock today so that all employees may have ea half day off.

There will be two deliveries by carriers during the morning hours in the business section of the city and one delivery in residential parts.

Throughout the morning hours the general delivery windows and the stamp sales windows will be open for business, but when the clocks in the federal building pound out high noon hour, these windows will be closed for the rest of the day.

HARRIS IS ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF PERJURY

John Harrison Is Called From the Jury Box to Testify in Case.

Macon, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—Judge Rawlings, of Sandersville, presiding in the superior court here today, directed a verdict for the defendant in the Jesse C. Harris perjury case directly after the state had closed its case. The request for the direction of a verdict was made by solicitor John P. Ross, who admitted that he had been unable to make out a case.

This morning Solicitor Ross submitted authorities on the question of the disqualification of J. G. Harrison, a juror who was serving on the case, though he himself was indicted in connection with the alleged election fraud last fall. The court overruled the motion of the solicitor to declare a mistrial, and the case proceeded.

Several members of the grand jury were put on the stand, but could not remember distinctly what Harris said when he was before the grand jury. Charles H. Hall, Jr., testified that Harris had come to his office on the night of the election and asked: "How many votes does Judge Bartlett need?" Hall said that he replied: "He needs all that he can get."

Hall said he then went to Judge Bartlett and told him what Harris had said, and Judge Bartlett demanded that he (Hall) retract his reply to Harris. Hall said he did this five minutes later on the court house steps, saying: "Judge Bartlett does not want any votes that are not already in the ballot box."

John E. Harrison was called from the jury box to testify. He said that Harris did not come into the room after the vote was counted.

B. F. KERSEY ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

Griffin, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—A young man giving his name as B. F. Kersey, of Stockbridge, was arrested here yesterday afternoon on the charge of forgery. Kersey presented a check for $14 at the City National bank, the check being signed by S. C. McWilliams and made payable to J. C. Duncan, and drawn on the bank of Stockbridge. The local cashier required that the check be indorsed by some one in Griffin. When Kersey returned with the name of J. A. Rice as indorser, it was learned that Rice was not in the city.

Later in the day he was arrested on a warrant sworn out by H. P. Brown on the charge of forgery. It was learned also that Kersey is wanted at Oglethorpe on a similar charge. After the Griffin officers get through with him he will be delivered to the Oglethorpe authorities.

DENNIS TAPLEY IS DEAD; KNOWN AS 'KEYRING BOY'

Savannah, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—Dennis Tapley, the "key ring boy," died today. He was well known in Georgia. Several years ago he had a narrow escape from death in an Atlanta hotel fire. For years "the key ring boy" was a familiar figure in Johnson Square, where, though crippled and paralyzed so that he could not walk and could barely push his tricycle along from one spot to another in the square, he earned his living by hard work. He sold key rings and stamped on a metal tab attached to them the names and addresses of the owners.

Dennis Tapley was a character in Georgia and he will be missed by many people. One of his pet theories was that he possessed the secret of growing black roses. But the secret was imparted to no one. He is survived by his wife and brother, F. F. Tapley, of Helena. He was 32 years old and a native of Effingham county.

Letters to Chief Beavers Charge Laxity to Police

Two letters accusing the police department of alleged laxity in preventing burglaries and attempting to apprehend the robbers have been received by Chief Beavers. Each is from a prominent business firm, both of which have suffered recent burglaries.

The first was written by George Moore, of the firm of George Moore, confectionery dealers, located at 68-70-72 Central avenue. This establishment has been burglarized twice within the past month.

Entrance was gained each time through a large plateglass door panel. Less than three weeks ago robbers cut the glass with a diamond, lifting it out and entering through the opening. Wednesday night the panel was smashed. Considerable loot was stolen on each occasion.

Moore accuses the police of carelessness.

The second letter is from the B. M. Grant real estate firm, and intimates that inasmuch as an alarming number of robberies are being committed daily, the police are failing to cope with the situation as capably as should be expected.

Moore's letter is as follows:

"Atlanta, Ga., July 3.

"J. L. Beavers, Chief of Police—Dear Sir: I beg to call your attention to the recent robberies that have occurred at my place, located on the corner of Central avenue and East Hunter streets.

"My store was broken into about three or four weeks ago, and again last night. The first time, entrance was gained by removing the entire glass and the next time the panel was broken out.

"I am located on one of the most public corners in Atlanta, and for some one to remove the entire glass door from my place on one occasion and on another to smash the glass, looks like carelessness on some one's part.

"Yours very respectfully,
"(Signed.) GEORGE MOORE."

The Grant letter follows:

"Chief James L. Beavers, Police Headquarters—Dear Sir: Someone broke into 20 East Baker street this week, stealing a large amount of plumbing fixtures out of the house.

"We would be glad if you would give this matter attention and use every effort to apprehend the parties who did this.

"It looks to us as though, with the great amount of this kind of work that is being done, that it could be traced to some source.

"Yours very truly,
"B. M. GRANT & CO.,
"(Signed.) Per A. L. ADAMS."

Each of the two letters has been filed in the station sergeant's office. Thursday they were read to the three patrol watches, and the captains have been instructed to give the communications prompt attention.

PISTOL IN BOY'S HANDS WOUNDS HIS PLAYMATE

O. B. Biggers at Grady Hospital While Police Search for His Companion.

The first of the 1913 Fourth of July accidents occurred last night when 12-year-old "O. B." Biggers, of 348 Glenn street, was painfully wounded by the discharge of a blank shell from a toy pistol in the hands of a playmate, Henry Kaincannon.

The shooting happened in the yard of the Biggers residence. Kaincannon, who lives at 424 Central avenue, was visiting the injured lad. In displaying the toy revolver it was exploded in some manner. The wadding of a blank shell struck his companion in the right leg, inflicting an ugly wound.

The boy was carried in an ambulance to Grady hospital, where medical effort is being made to check gangrene poisoning. Policemen Milam and Cochran, who investigated the case, have been unable to locate the Kaincannon youth. He is about 15 years old.

He will probably be arrested if found. The style of pistol with which the Biggers child was wounded has already been declared by Recorder Broyles to be a weapon, and a case can be docketed against the boy for discharging firearms in the city limits.

THE BOARD'S SECRETARY ARRIVES AT COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—A rousing reception to Willis B. Powell, the new general secretary of the Columbus board of trade, was given at a meeting of the members of the board tonight. Mr. Powell has some unique and enterprising plans for the advancement of Columbus' business interests, and their development is awaited with keen anticipation.

DALTON MAN KILLED BY THE INTENSE HEAT

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 3.—John W. Stanton, graduate of Sewanee, died today of heat prostration. Walter Snyder, accountant of Dalton, Ga., dropped dead of heat prostration on Main street.

The thermometer registered 95 degrees for five hours today. This was the eighteenth successive day on which the mercury went above 90.

DRINK AT PARKS DECLARED PURE BY COMMISSIONERS

That the ice cream and soft drinks served by Charles L. Chosewood, manager of the refreshment stands in Grant and Piedmont parks, is clean and wholesome, were the statements made by Councilman S. S. Shepard and Commissioners M. B. Young, R. A. Burnett and M. P. Green, at the special meeting of the park board yesterday afternoon.

The board met at the request of Chosewood for the purpose of making an investigation of the report that the refreshments served at the park were not clean.

Councilman Shepard, who is an ex-officio member of the board, and Commissioners Young, Burnett and Green made individual investigations. They each declared that the reports were unfounded and that the reports published in an afternoon paper were not correct and unfair.

President Cochran suggested that the health board be requested to look after the stands and make inspections.

"I'll be pleased to have the board suggest anything that will aid me in making my places more attractive," Chosewood said. "I have been injured in my business by the unfair reports, and want the board to make a thorough investigation."

The board adopted a resolution offered by Commissioner Young, which commends the quality of refreshments served at the parks, and which characterized as unfair the published reports.

Chosewood appeared before the board with his attorney, James L. Key.

JOY RIDES PROVIDED FOR ALL MACON KIDS

Bridges Smith Plans Novel Way of Giving Children Good Time on Fourth.

Macon, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—Tomorrow Macon will have her most unique celebration of the Fourth of July. Instead of the roar of cannon-crackers some of the "Peace on earth, good will" spirit of the Christmastide will be adopted.

Every child in Macon, rich or poor, who has never enjoyed the experience of riding in an automobile, will for once in his or her life be taken for a spin along paved streets and country roads. It will be a joy ride such as has seldom been seen anywhere. There will b eno formal parade, but the one hundred automobiles will be filled as rapidly as possible and whisked away with their loads of youngsters.

The idea was suggested by Bridges Smith, the most loved man in Macon, who has twice been mayor and is now city clerk. The Constitution recently described him as a man "who adds sweetness to politeness."

The joy ride was simply Bridges' way of giving the Macon children a "safe and sane" Fourth, and Macon people think no better plan could possibly have been adopted. This is shown by the ready response of automobile owners.

Robinson Goes to Macon.

Macon, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—R. F. Robinson, formerly traveling freight agent for the Atlantic Coast Line railway, out of Atlanta, has been assigned to Macon and will be commercial agent for the same road out of this city. Offices will be opened up here before the end of the week.

W. H. Kinard, who has served the Atlantic Coast Line railway and the Georgia railroad, jointly, as commercial agent, will now devote his entire attention to the latter road.

Puts Through Big Deal.

Macon, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—A deal involving a twenty-story office building at 48 Broadway, valued at $1,000,000, and a 50,00 acre tract of land in Florida, has just been put through by G. C. Hardeman, of Macon. His commission on the deal, it is said, will amount to a quarter of a million dollars.

The New York building has just been erected, and the capitalists who own it have since been desirous of getting some land in Florida. The new owners will form an operating company and operate the building themselves.

MYRICK AMONG LEADERS OF GEORGIA LEGISLATURE

Shelby Myrick, of Chatham, is one of the new representatives who will in all probability make his mark in this legislature. Though a new man, Mr. Myrick is so well known as a lawyer and is so highly thought of by the speaker of the house that he has been selected for the chairmanship of one of the most important committees, namely, constitutional amendments, head of his committee this year as Besides this he is a member of the ways and means and general judiciary No. 1.

The fact that he is not in any way connected with the new county movements, together with his known judicial temperament, had great weight with the speaker in making him chairman of constitutional amendments. He is also a man to expedite business and that will be one of the chief necessary requirements for the many matters of unusual importance ... come before it.

Favors Tax Revision.

Myrick has strong views on tax revision. So urgent does he regard legislation on this line this summer that he has prepared a tax reform bill of his own which he will introduce at an early date. He believes that the more phases of the question that are presented to the bills with which the ways and means committee has to deal, the greater the probability that a good bill will emerge from the committee when it has finished its work.

HON. SHELBY MYRICK.
Of Chatham County.

"I want to see a good tax equalization measure enacted this year," said Mr. Myrick. "I believe that now is the accepted time and we will be able to get a more satisfactory bill now than we would by waiting until next summer, and having a committee of the houses of a noutside commission waste a year making an investigation of the subject.

His Success At Law.

Mr. Myrick is a young man, and yet thirty-six years old, and a graduate of the University of Georgia in both the academic and law classes. Born in Forsyth, he was reared in Americus and entered the practice of law in Savannah. Soon after he began the law, he was appointed referee in bankruptcy for his nivision of the southern district of Georgia. For several years he was recorder of Savannah. Since 1901, he has been a member of every governor's staff except one, and he has been reappointed on the staff of Governor Slaton.

Mr. Myrick's Mother.

Mr. Myrick's mother, Mrs. Marie Louise Myrick, was one of the best known and most successful newspaper women who ever drove a pen to Georgia, having for years been editress of the Americus Times-Recorder. In her newspaper work, she wielded a big influence in Georgia politics herself. For several years past she has been living in retirement with her gifted son in Savannah.

PRIVATE BRANCH EXCHANGE WOULD SAVE CITY MONEY

Chief W. B. Cummings, of the fire department, and a representative of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, appeared before the electrical committee of council, yesterday afternoon, and unfolded a scheme for the installation of a private branch exchange in the fire department which will save several hundred dollars to the city.

The scheme comprehends the installation of a board at fire headquarters which will serve the entire department and some other branches of the city. The system will cut out many phones now in use in the department. The installation expense to the city will be $301.99, but the saving every year will amount to $138.01.

While the committee considered the scheme favorably it decided to let the board of firemasters take up the proposal of the telephone company and report it to council.

W. S. WARDLAW HONORED BY TRI-STATE PRINTERS

Augusta, Ga., July 3.—The following officers were elected by the Tri-State Printers' association here today:

C. J. Atkinson, Augusta, president; W. S. Wardlaw, Atlanta, first vice president; T. H. Atkinson, Tampa, second vice president; J. L. Davis, Columbia, third vice president; A. C. Thompson, Charleston, secretary-treasurer.

By-laws were adopted at the meeting today. The next meeting place is to be decided by the executive board, which is composed of the president, first vice president and secretary-treasurer.

WILLIAM BAIRMAN STRICKEN BY DEATH

Macon, Ga., July 3.—William Bairman, associate editor of the Macon Telegraph, died tonight at the City hospital of typhoid fever.

He was about 50 years of age. He was born in Lancaster, Pa., and came south about twenty or twenty-five years ago going to Savannah, where he worked as a compositor on both the Savannah Morning News and Savannah Press. He married here and went to Atlanta in the employ of the Franklin Printing company, coming to the Telegraph fifteen years ago as make-up man. Later he became fore-[illegible] four years ago was taken into the editorial room as assistant [illegible] editor, C. H. Pendleton.

Mr. Bairman had been for years the keeper of the Telegraph's famous political "scrap book."

MELODIES OF OLD SOUTH ARE HEARD AT NEGRO FESTIVAL

For lovers of good music, especially of the old southern negro melodies, the musical festival of the Atlanta Colored Musical Festival association, now in progress at the auditorium-armory, is a treat.

The opening program, which was rendered last night, consisted of an elaborate and entertaining pageant, or tableau, showing the progress of the negro race since the days of African paganism to the present day. Each stage of progress was represented by a scene typical of the period. The members of the association participating in the program were dressed in the costumes of the period.

The feature of Thursday evening was the singing of Anita Patti Brown, of Chicago, soprano soloist. She has a voice of remarkable strength and beauty. In her rendition of the "Suwanee River" she proved herself an artist.

Many white people were present.

The festival will extend through Friday night, with matinee and night performances.

GAINESVILLE LINEMAN IS FATALLY SHOCKED

Gainesville, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—James West, an employee of the Georgia Power and Light company, while working upon the steel awning in front of the Gainesville office of that corporation, was fatally shocked this morning. He was engaged in shaving off the insulation of a wire which came in contact with another high current wire. He cried out once and then dropped back on to the awning.

He was immediately taken down and carried into the office of the Georgia Power company, where the work of resuscitation was begun. Doctors were summoned and came immediately. The work of resuscitation continued from 9:20 a. m. until 12 o'clock, but it was useless. The shock had killed him instantly.

EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO FREE NEWT LEE

Attorney Chappell Declares Belief That Lee Has No Knowledge of Guilty Parties.

An early effort is likely to be made to free Newt Lee, the negro night watchman who discovered the body of Mary Phagan, and who has since been held for suspected complicity in the crime.

This is intimated in a statement issued by the negro's counsel, Bernard L. Chappell, who says he has arrived at the conclusion that his client knows absolutely nothing about the murder, except his grewsome discovery.

Lee was not indicted, although his name was submitted before the grand jury at the same time action was taken against Leo Frank. The amount of cross-examination can break his story in any respect, and he has told the same straightforward tale throughout imprisonment.

Attorney Chappell hinted that he would institute habeas corpus proceedings in the attempt to liberate the watchman.

OFFICIALS TO ATTEND 'CUE AT SANITARIUM

Mayor James G. Woodward will attend the barbecue at Battle Hill sanitarium today.

The 'cue will be served by Dr. W. S. Merritt, the efficient superintendent of the institution, in honor of city officials, and will be attended by the patients and employees of the institution. It will be an appropriate and sane celebration of the nation's birthday.

Superintendent Merritt has given out the assurance that the 'cue will eclipse anything ever given in honor of city officials.

Advertising Drives the Wheels of Trade

This is a fine day for you to declare your independence from——moth-eaten methods of doing business.

It's a fine day on which to lay the foundation for a better store service, a better delivery service, better goods and better prices (when possible).

It's a fine day to take a new and firmer hold on the reins of your business, to drive it forward in the middle of the road away from the ruts that await the unwary.

It's a fine day on which to plan an advertising campaign; a sane, sound advertising campaign, minus the "stunt" feature that makes only a temporary impression.

It's a fine day to awaken to the fact that not only leading citizens of Atlanta, but men of high position everywhere, unhesitatingly declare the South to be riding on the greatest prosperity wave that ever rolled a country on to success.

And, it's a fine day to remember that The Atlanta Constitution is a fine newspaper in which to advertise persistently and consistently, so that thousands of people in all walks of life may become acquainted with you and your store, come to know that you are really here for one purpose—SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC.

When In Doubt Wear Blue

In one shade or another blue suits have been worn upwards of two thousand years, so there's really nothing new about the blue.

But when you ask about the tailoring of these blue suits—the style, the quality—you have introduced a favorite theme, for we speak with knowledge, and we deal with experience on the subject of clothes and these points that make them fine.

There's nothing more distinctive in the whole field of color than the blue suit, if the tailor is "on the job." On the contrary, the fabric throws into conspicuous relief any defect of inefficiency.

'Tis a restful creation, of quiet elegance, and it borrows a refined dash when worn with white trousers.

We can fit any man in a blue suit, including stouts, and blue is becoming to everyone.

Two and three-piece suits—

A HOLE IN THE SIEVE.

Georgia's method of collecting taxes is like baling out a boat with a sieve. Such a job is, of course, hopeless at best. When there is a hole in the sieve it simply becomes worse. In a recent editorial calling for tax reform The Macon Telegraph indicates this impressive-looking hole:

> Grand juries have been known to direct county tax receivers to lower assessments so that state taxes might be evaded.
> And in virtually every county where such has occurred, the people get returned to them for schools and pensions more money than they pay into the state treasury.
> Thus a system of pernicious inequality has grown up because it is made the duty of no one to see that equality shall prevail.

We pass by any speculation as to the number of times this particular species of manipulation may have been practiced in Georgia. If it happened at one time and in one place, it is logical to believe it happened at other times and places.

After all, that is not the point. The chief cause for alarm is that such conditions do exist and can easily multiply under the Georgia law.

So far as any central authority is concerned, taxation is today a matter of local option in Georgia. The counties and individuals give what they please. Personal and real property is returned not at a scientifically estimated percentage of its market value, but at the whim of the holder. The tax receiver may or may not know that the taxpayer is making ridiculously false returns. In any case, the tax receiver holds an elective office. He is not apt to antagonize his people. He must not be expected to display superhuman attributes.

This sieve-system of collecting revenue, together with the holes in the sieve, are responsible for disreputable practice of making teachers wait a year for pay, or shylock their pay for from 8 to 25 per cent. It is responsible for the pinching of each state institution. Uncorrected, it is going to get worse from year to year and widen the gap between expenditures and income. Sooner or later it may gravely impair the state's credit.

Equalizing taxes will not increase the tax of the poor man or unjustly increase the tax of any other man. In the long run it will lower the tax rate of all. The present legislature is faced by the paramount duty of applying the remedy. No commission is needed for this job. The legislature should itself do the work.

ROME'S WORK FOR HIGHWAYS.

The Rome Chamber of Commerce, largely upon the initiative of Louis Spencer Daniel, managing director, has entered upon a vigorous crusade to secure the enactment of a state highway law for Georgia. At a recent meeting resolutions were adopted outlining the known lack of uniformity in roadway construction in Georgia, and providing for a definite system. The "Rome plan" would put highway building in charge of a commission of experts, and inaugurate co-operation between county and state, but with the state's authority final. A valuable feature of the plan is the proviso that roads shall be built from county site to county site, converging in Atlanta and starting from every part of the state boundaries. Such a system would in the long run mean countless millions to Georgia in encouragement to development.

Rome has also wrought splendidly in the matter of scout tours, along the line recently mentioned by The Constitution in connection with Athens. The chamber of commerce expects soon to receive from the printer 20,000 blue print auto guide maps and route retails from Cincinnati, Louisville, Bowling Green, Nashville, Chattanooga, Rome, Atlanta and Jacksonville. It is the plan of Director Daniel to mail these guides out to well-known tourists as an invitation to visit this section of the country. The possibilities for publicity in this idea for both Rome and the south generally are manifest. Rome also makes a strong bid for week-end auto tourists from Atlanta. The distance can be covered in three hours or less over fine highways. And the city is worth visiting. It has a manufacturers' exhibit hall, the only one to be found in any city of Rome's size; three rivers; swimming, boating and fishing and a fine country club, and is one of the very best cities of its size in the country.

CHICAGO WILL SHOW US.

Governor Dunne, of Illinois, has signed the bill extending partial suffrage to women. It is estimated that 1,600,000 women will come under the provisions of the law. We are inclined to think the estimate is excessive, but there's nothing in squabbling over figures in this case.

The most significant point is that women are now to be given a chance to demonstrate their electoral fitness in the largest city that has yet given them this right. Upon how women meet the municipal and general citizenship problems in Chicago depends to a great extent the progress of the suffrage movement elsewhere. It is fair to assume that if the woman voter "makes good" in Chicago that similar movements will be hastened in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and other large cities of the country and of the world.

Chicago rises, therefore, to the importance of a great experimental center. Fortunately, the politics of the city is sufficiently complicated to offer a testing-ground for almost every problem incident to political life.

THE BALKAN MENACE.

It is not merely bloodshed and tragedy that the Balkan eruption threatens. The chief stake in the squabbles now being fought out in the near east is the prosperity of almost all civilization.

The more unthinking American may believe that war in the old world does not affect financial conditions on this side of the water. The belief is a comforting delusion. Our civilization has become so complicated that the remotest country is not immune to the effects of the actions of its near and far neighbors.

That principle has already been demonstrated with regard to the war in the Balkan states. For many months Europe has been hoarding gold. You may say that is very commendable on the part of Europe. The trouble is that the process has made the old world slow up in her purchase of American securities and of all other American goods save those of absolute necessity. That is not all. In her anxiety to get hold of all the gold possible, Europe has raided our stores of the precious metal and our antiquated currency and banking laws offer no protection in the world against this operation.

Right now, therefore, about the most considerable danger to American prosperity is the discouraging recurrence of hostilities in the Balkans. We will quickly adjust ourselves to new tariff conditions. The new currency law will afford much relief. But if the Balkans keep on warring long enough they may embroil all Europe in their quarrel. And that may affect us.

For these reasons, not to mention humanitarian motives, America has much to gain in an early subsidence of the disturbance in the near east.

BULLY FOR JOSEPHUS.

In the language of the street, you "must hand it to" Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels. He has invented a sort of antidote for the heat. And any man with that to his credit rises to the nth power of public beneficiaries at this time of the year.

"When hot, think of cotton," murmured the secretary the other day. Now, to the fat citizen mopping his brow, that advice might seem provocative. But the secretary knew whereof he spoke. Cotton, he explained, is the one crop that keeps the financial balance on the right side of the American ledger. And cotton, he proceeded, grows and hardens so fast these hot days and nights that one inevitably compares it to the beanstalk of the Jack of our childhood.

The secretary is right. Were it not for cotton every man, woman and child in America would get a financial jolt each year. It is the strong link that keeps the old world coming to our market with its gold. It is the salvation of the merchant and the anchor of the financier.

That thought will not lower the merciless mercury one notch. But it ought to make us a little more patient, as we contemplate what other magic the vertical rays of the sun are working.

Fourth o' July in the morning, and then some—until they call "time" on the orators.

There is considerable criticism of the money washed by the government laundry, still, any old bill looks good to a friend in need.

The man who gives us the old, stereotyped hot weather advice is as frequent as rattlesnakes in July, and just about as popular.

This Is No Fable.

The Sedgwick Pantagraph doesn't know the authorship of this fable, but commends the moral it points:

"A man who never amounted to much once got a job running the engine of a sawmill. He was greatly impressed with the importance of his position and wanted everyone to know that he was the man who made all the wheels go round. The first morning he steamed up the engine he jerked the whistle wide open and made the welkin ring for miles around, saying to himself as the echoes bounced over the hills, 'I am certainly the big noise in this part of the country.' Just then the foreman started the force on a big day's work and discovered that there was not enough steam left to start the machinery. He of the big noise was promptly canned and the job was given to a hobo. Moral: You can't saw wood if you use all the steam blowing your whistle."

In Summer Days.

This is a picture of a summer paradise, as painted by the poet of the Baltimore Sun:

The musk of ripening peaches in the lane,
And harvest apples golden through the trees;
The shrill cicada knitting socks again,
And honey dripping from the gold-legged bees.

A thud of bare feet in the dust, and lo,
The village lads on swimming ventures go."

Not an avalanche of bills at present, but give the legislature a chance to get up steam.

A sane Fourth and a sane Christmas will do more than anything else to put the firecracker trust out of business.

How that "War in the East" does love the front page!

The present hostile attitude of the Balkan allies follows naturally: The pie was tempting, and there wasn't enough of it to go around.

The lobbyist is sitting on a barbed wire fence and trying to look pleasant.

That currency question has been a thorn in the consumer's side ever since the rise in prices cried "Hands up" to his last dollar.

And some will make a sane Fourth of it by toiling at the same old tasks as if they didn't have time for a hurrah!

Now for the bills from Billville, in the famous old province of Bill!

Bailey, of The Houston Post, has his usual fling at the Georgia legislature, but his paragraphs are so bright that our confident home-statesmen forgive him.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

"Experience, my son, still teaches that he is doubly wise who lives beneath the elms and beeches, among the gnats and flies," remarked the wild man of the woods, with visible emotion. "Happiness is the end and aim of all human critters. Twenty centuries have taught us that happiness cannot be found in the busy haunts. Why, then, do men not repair to the sylvan solitudes?

"It is perhaps a wise provision of nature that they do not, when you come to think it over; for if all men did that, the sylvan solitudes would be converted into busy haunts and there would be no possibility of establishing a lodge in some vast wilderness. I never thought of that before.

"It is true that the forest primeval has some minor drawbacks. The mosquitoes are numerous and should be punished for offensive partisanship. They cause me much travail of spirit at times; and I am afraid I have used unladylike language when trying to reach a bite between the shoulder-blades. There is nothing more trying than to make vain efforts to scratch a mosquito bite which is off the regular route. Then the flies are annoying. Here in the woods we have the large greenish black flies. They weigh about a pound each when full grown, and when they bite you it is impossible to ignore the matter or treat it as a jest.

"One of those flies once came to take a great deal of interest in my nose. Nearly every time I go to sleep it comes and performs a surgical operation on that organ. Not being well versed in science, I can't say whether this fly was practicing for a bite, but in either case, the results are annoying. You see how my nose is swollen and inflamed. It looks more like a Chinese lantern than a nose, and if a temperance worker came into these woods I know he'd form a strong estimate of my thirst." I took a nap under yonder stately sycamore this morning, and was aroused by an intense pain in my nose. I realized at once that the fly had stung it again, and so I compounded a slippery elm poultice to allay the throbbing pain. I almost made up my mind to return to the busy haunts and have done with the woods.

"But a moment's reflection persuaded me that such a course would be foolish. It is true that the town dweller can so screen his house as to keep out the flies and mosquitoes and hornets, but does that bring him peace of mind? Does that constitute him happiness? Not on your tin type, my son. The health cranks make his life a burden. The health cranks haven't yet extended their operations to the deep tangled wildwood, so a hermit can go home from the city and in town is forever being reminded that death stalks abroad with a rusty scythe, looking for a chance to gather him in. If he goes to the well for a drink of water, the ubiquitous crank dashes the dipper from his hand, and tells him it's battle, murder and sudden death to drink water without boiling it. Well water is so thick with germs that you can cut it with a knife and pile it up like bricks.

"The newspapers and magazines are shrieking at him all the time, telling him that a dead cat left in the alley over night means seven funerals in the neighborhood, that his whiskers are full of deadly microbes and should be sawed off, that the family cat carries bubonic plague and the mange from one house to another, that it is dangerous to curry a horse, for the dust, which is full of germs, will get into his lungs, and give those organs the mange. However indifferent to the shrieks and warnings he may be at first, they get on his nerves after a while, and eventually he's willing to bet 15 cents that he'll die before the week is out.

"Under the influence of the health cranks a man gets into such a condition that he can't think of anything but his temperature and respiration, and if a hair falls out he thinks it a symptom of some deadly disease that will carry him off before he has time to kiss his grandmother and bid his aunt a last farewell. Who would care to live under such conditions? Better to be at rest with the rude forefathers of the hamlet. Better, far better to shun the towns, and have the corpulent bluebottle flies ply their nefarious trade and ruin your Sunday nose."

THANKS FROM A TEACHER

Editor Constitution: Being one of the teachers of Georgia, I wish to thank you for the efficient work you have done in the interest of the teachers and the state along the line of securing prompt pay for the teachers. I agree with you that this can be done without embarrassment or any inconvenience to the state if we but reconstruct our system of making tax returns, so that the returns will represent real and true values.

Right here I have an idea that I have not yet seen suggested. In order to extract people to the farm and to check the tendency to hold real estate in large boundaries, let's allow a man to hold a homestead of, say, thirty acres of farm land, free from taxation. The tax rate on any excess of this to be 1 mill up to sixty acres, 2 mills for any excess up to ninety acres, and so on, till the rate will be prohibitory.

Such a schedule, with efficient means of levying and collecting, I think, would go a long way toward filling the empty tills of the state treasury and put an efficient check on the land sharks.

About the State Road.

Editor Constitution: I have read with some interest the suggestions of Governor Brown, in his last message, with reference to the future of the "state road," in which he referred to the double-tracking of same between Atlanta and Chattanooga.

If the business of the road will warrant such expenditure it seems to me that it would be an excellent move for the state to thus improve its present mileage and reap the reward through increased rental.

I am not in possession of any statistics, hence am not in position to discuss other phases of the question, but think that would be the first point which should be considered.

Mines in the United States.

(Engineering and Mining Journal.)

How many mines are there in the United States? This is a question that often is asked us. As nearly as we can determine there are about 6,500 coal mines. Of metal mines there are about 4,000, producing and developing. With respect to the metallurgical works we can speak more accurately. There are twenty-eight lead smelting works, seventy-eight zinc and 314 iron. There are 189 open-hearth steel works and thirty bessemer works. Thus there is a total of 612 metallurgical works of the classes herein enumerated.

WHERE WINDMILLS REIGN AND RURAL BANKS GROW

By Harrie Jordan.

Leeuwarden, Holland, June 19.—(Special.) The larger part of Holland agriculturally, is devoted to the operation of dairies, for butter and cheese, and the growing of vegetables and fruits. Practically the whole country is from two to ten feet below sea level, hence great dykes or levees have had to be built along the entire sea coast, to keep the sea out, just as in ancient times great rock walls had to be built around the old cities to keep the invading barbarians and other enemies out. The entire country is also level and flat, with the exception of the sand dunes near the coast. When the rains fall, artificial methods have to be resorted to in order to get the surplus water off the cultivated fields and pastures. To do this the fields are cut up by small ditches running in parallel lines about two rods apart and crossing in squares about five acres long. Sea level canals have been constructed at higher levels which flow into the open sea.

At intervals of from a quarter to half a mile apart, large, old-fashioned wooden windmills have been erected for the purpose of pumping the rainwater out of the lower ditches up into the sea level canals and thereby sending the surplus water out to sea. But for this artificial method of handling the surplus rainfall the land would be constantly under water and the cultivation of the soil impossible.

The building through the farms of these sea level canals, which are several feet higher than the land, makes of Holland on a large scale almost what the city of Venice is on a small scale. The farmers use these canals for highways of travel in boats instead of the usual method of travel in wagons on the roadways. They haul their farm products to market in boats and haul out stable manure to be put on the land in the same way.

The Land of Windmills.

Holland is known as the country of big wooden windmills, canals and wooden shoes. Hundreds of these enormous windmills can be seen in every direction in a day's journey, the four long wind shields slowly turning, making a most picturesque and interesting sight. Vegetation is quite green, and could not be otherwise under the conditions as recited above. Hay grows tall and thick. It is made in superabundance. There are no fences in Holland. Indeed, I have not seen a barbed wire fence or scarcely a fence of any description except around the yards of residences, in which the same style as that in Italy, Hungary, Austria, Germany, Belgium and Holland on the present trip. The last barbed wire fence I saw was in the United States, and I think I ought to be outlawed over there. Of course, in Holland the little side ditches, two or three feet deep and the same in width, serve the purpose of a fence, as the cattle, horses, sheep and hogs are trained to stay where they are pastured and do not cultivate the jumping habit. The Holstein-Friesian cow, large, black and white, or pure black bodies with white faces, are the predominating breed. They cover the pastures in every direction and present the finest type of dual purpose cattle for milk and beef that I have seen in any of the countries visited.

The Friesian cow when fat will weigh 1,400 to 1,600 pounds, and they give from four to five gallons of rich milk daily. The best of these cows when fresh with milk cost from $160 to $180 each. In some of the dairies they are kept tied up in their clean stalls and milked for twelve months, never being allowed to leave the stall during that time. When the milk begins to fall they are sold for beef, bringing an average of $120 a head.

Co-operative Societies.

During the past thirty or forty years farmers' co-operative buying and marketing societies have developed very rapidly and successfully in this country. The most successful societies are those representing dairies engaged in butter and cheese making and the growing of vegetables. The co-operative handling of garden products is perhaps more highly developed in Holland than any other country. The individual grower does not market his produce; this is done for him by the association of which he is a member. I visited one of these unique sales depots, near The Hague, last Thursday to witness the method of operation, and found it so interesting that a description here would be advisable. The market I visited was a large, open building constructed over and on both sides of a canal about twelve feet wide. On one side several long tiers of benches were erected, where the buyers sit.

On the other side, tables and chairs for the accountants, and the auctioneer stood beside a large automatic electric apparatus, consisting of a big dial with figures around the circle from 1 to 100, very much like a clock in appearance. A long hand revolves around the dial, pointing to the figures as the various numbers. A boat loaded with cucumbers, cauliflowers and carrots came along and stopped between the buyers on one side and the auctioneer on the other. The auctioneer called out the vegetables for sale (first or second class) and awaited a bid. The buyers sitting on the benches each have a finger on an electric button to press when the finger on the dial reaches a certain figure which stops the indicating hand,

I Want to Be There, Too.

Yes, I wish I was there, too, instead of being here,
Where those "cool breezes blow" with you, Jennie, dear.
Out there where the violets are kissed
by the dew,
Oh, Jennie, my dear, how I long to be with you.

I want to hear the birds sing in the early morn,
And I want to hear the rustling of the waving blades of corn.
I want to draw water from the deep
moss-covered well,
And I want to take a stroll with my little Sarah Nell.

I want to get out early in the cool
June morning air,
And pluck a milk-white rose for my darling Jennie's hair.
Oh, I'm getting so impatient to be where the violets stay,
And listen to the birds sing at the close of sleepy day.

I want to walk with Jennie in the cooling evening breeze,
And I want to hear the humming of the drowsy honey bees.
I want to hold your hand, dear, while we watch the milky way
And inhale the fragrant odors of the clover and the hay.

I want to watch the sunbeams chase
the softly fleeing shadows,
And I want to see the cattle grazing in the peaceful meadows.
I want to see the humming birds flit
from flower to flower,
Oh, I'm longing for the coming of that happy, happy hour.

Jennie, dear, I know you're waiting, for your sweetheart is coming,
And long before you see him you will hear the wheels a-humming.
Until then keep sweet and happy, and don't get in a hurry,
For there's no place in our heaven for discord nor for worry.

—JOHN R. THORNTON.

Atlanta, Ga.

and at the same time a number appears below the dial corresponding with the number of the seat occupied by the bidder. In this way the product is sold without any noise or disputes.

Records are kept of each sale showing name of owner of product and the buyer. Transactions on one day are settled for the next. If any grower is untrue, fails packing his crates or having better vegetables on top of the baskets than at the bottom he is turned out of the society and left to shift for himself. Hundreds of boat loads of vegetables are sold in this way daily. The buyers have large packing stalls near by where the vegetables are unloaded, packed and exported to Germany and England. These sales depots are located from four to five miles apart in the larger trucking districts.

Growing Vegetables Under Glass.

I was shown through several large establishments where the vegetables are grown under glass, in long glass houses fifty feet wide and several hundred feet in length. These houses are equipped with iron pipes for transmitting the heat from a boiler station and the temperature kept at the proper figure. The cucumber vines are trellised on the inside of the glass roof, and it is an interesting sight to see thousands of the long cucumbers, mostly eighteen inches in length, and two inches in diameter, hanging from the vines overhead as you walk through one of the glass houses.

I passed through thousands of tomato vines trailing on stakes eight to ten feet high and loaded with clusters of young tomatoes which would soon be ready for market. I also had the pleasure of visiting a successful grape grower who had ten acres of grapes growing in these long glass houses. The huge vines were trellised on the under side of the glass roof, supported by wire, and hundreds of thousands of great bunches of grapes were just beginning to turn purple and ripen. I was informed these grapes were packed in crates of six bunches each, wrapped in paper and shipped principally to London and New York, where they go into the hands of the wealthy consumers at $1 per pound. This farmer expects to ship eighty tons from his artificially grown fruit and is quite a wealthy man, having a handsome home, a modern automobile and other evidences of luxury and independence. One farmer I visited grew peaches under glass. The trees in these glass houses had been trained on trellises and looked more like vines than trees. But the big red peaches ripening on the limbs made a sight which is forever at this period of the year in thousands of Georgia farms.

Peaches raised under glass in this way are sold for 50 cents apiece. The weather here is too cold for fruit out in the open, hence fruit and early vegetables must be raised in hothouses. In the horticultural section of Holland where these hothouses are exported and none imported, the people are politically free traders, but up in the grain growing sections where foodstuffs are not produced in sufficient quantities for home consumption, and have to be imported, the farmers are protectionists, although Holland is a free trade country at this time.

Co-operative Credit.

Since 1898 co-operative farmers' banks of the Raiffeisen type have rapidly come into popularity in Holland. There are now nearly 1,000 of these small banks in operation, with a total membership of 65,000. These small banks are federated with three central banks, which provide the financial capital for their operation. The smaller banks have no capital to start with, as each member pays only 50 cents as initiating fee. The government of Holland allows a subsidy to each bank of $50 to pay the cost of organization. The capital of the bank is raised from deposits by its members and non-members or by securing loans for its members from the three central banks. The central bank does practically no business aside from its connection with the smaller federated banks. No loans are granted by these banks to anyone unless he be a member. The interest rate on loans is uniformly 4½ per cent, per annum and the loans run from three to twelve months, or longer if necessary. In times of depression the central banks go to the Bank of the Netherlands, which is the head bank of the kingdom, and secure loans for operation, and not press the loans of the small borrowers. This is just the reverse of our monetary system in the United States. In our country, in times of depression or panic the big banks press the little ones, who in turn must press the small borrower, and hence we weaken the very basic structure of the nation. These central banks, into which the smaller banks each are federated, have from three to four millions of deposits each and their securities are largely gilt edged. Interest on deposits are 4 per cent. annually.

Long-time land mortgages of from thirty to forty years are made at 4½ per cent. per annum with an additional ½ per cent. for amortization annually for repaying the loan.

We go to Amsterdam next Tuesday, after visiting some of the co-operative butter and cheese making dairies up here in Friesland. Next Wednesday we go to Berlin to rejoin the full commission, and by June 30 complete our tour of Germany, then to France, England and Ireland. We start back to New York July 18.

BRAIN YOUTH.

By George Matthew Adams.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

Some one has given to us the striking sentence: "To the young, Nature does nothing but give away." Your Brain is the only Power in your entire body that may not age.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

To your Brain your Will may say: "Life at its noon-day is worth looking back and reviewing of a single day." For Youth never returns to your muscles and to your bones and to your arteries—but Youth trots along with your Brain—if your Will says so.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

William E. Gladstone, past eighty, chopping down trees, translating the Classics anew, tramping the fields and solving mysteries—stands out as one of the most striking examples of those who have kept their Brains young as their bodies grew old.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

It is interest that puts Youth into your Brain and drives away age. Just so long as you are interested in the things you are doing, just so long work will grow upon you, strengthening your loyalty and enthusiasm and every ounce of your effort.

Keep Youth alive in Your Brain.

In Old Madrid.

(From the Chicago Journal.)

A story is being told of a couple of tourists in Spain who could not speak the language, and, consequently, had some difficulty in making known their wants.

One day they came to a wayside inn and tried to obtain some meat—roast beef, for choice. But nobody could understand them.

"What are we to do?" asked one of them despairingly.

"I know," said the other, a ray of hope appearing. "I'll draw a picture of a cow. Then they'll understand."

He made a rough sketch of a cow, put a "?" beneath it, and handed it to the waiter, who instantly went off to execute their order.

A few minutes later he returned with two tickets for a local bull fight.

BANKERS WARNED BY CARTER GLASS

He Says Some Are Unfairly Attacking Currency Bill. Measure Not Responsible for Fall U. S. 2s.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, July 3.—(Special.)—Representative Carter Glass, chairman of the house banking and currency committee, tonight issued a vigorous statement in response to the intimation from New York that the administration currency bill was responsible for government 2 per cent bonds selling below par this week. He warns bankers that such methods of attack may prove a boomerang.

Government 2 per cent bonds, which are now the basis for national bank note circulation, were quoted in New York yesterday at 99½ with few if any takers. Bankers explained that these quotations resulted from the Glass bill proposal to exchange the 2 per cents for 3 per cents without the circulation privilege, and that this induced the national banks to reduce their holdings as they were not attractive investments.

Representative Glass says the currency bill had nothing to do with the selling of bonds below par. He was particularly vigorous in referring to A. Platt Andrew, ex-assistant secretary of the treasury, who has recently sharply criticized the democratic currency bill.

Organized Assault Charged.

"I only wish I could think," said Mr. Glass, "that this is not a part of an organized assault on the proposed banking and currency bill. Aside from this, I may say that the statements are utterly inaccurate and some of the suggestions made are preposterous. As a matter of fact the sale of government 2 per cent bonds on Tuesday at 99½ was not the first sale of these bonds below par nor was this sale a direct result of the proposal in the new currency bill to refund these bonds for the 3 per cent bonds over a period of twenty years. I have direct information that government 2 per cent bonds sold as low as ninety-eight and a fraction in New York last spring before one sentence of the tentative draft of the currency bill had been written.

"It is simply astounding, in view of all the circumstances, for any national banker to assert that the national banks of the country are alarmed at the bond provision of the proposed new currency bill. If you will refer to the hearings had by the Glass subcommittee last winter you will find that representative bankers like Mr. George M. Reynolds, of Chicago, Mr. Seth Carter, of New Orleans; Festus Wade, of St. Louis, and others all advocated the refunding of these bonds and the gradual retirement of the bond-secured currency.

Fair to the Banks.

"Moreover, they are there on record as saying that an exchange of 2 per cents for 3 per cents would be eminently fair to the banks, and to all holders of 2 per cent bonds. They are also on record as saying that the country would absorb $50,000,000 per annum of these refunded securities, whereas we have provided for a refunding of less than $30,000,000 per annum."

Not only that, but Mr. Glass said the currency committee of the American Bankers' association and other prominent bankers had urged the refunding of the 2 per cent bonds, saying it was of the utmost importance that this provision be restored to the bill.

Mr. Glass continued:

"In view of these facts, it is amazing that any national bankers should now have the presumption that the bond provision of the bill is responsible the government bonds selling below par. If they mean that the good faith of the government is invoked and that a higher rate of interest than 3 per cent should be provided, he may as well understand this will not be done.

"These fictitious objections are getting tiresome. Such methods are not going to frighten anyone here, but before we get through they may hurt somebody at the other end of the line.

"Of a piece with this same sort of cavilling is the insincere and discreditable attempt to prejudice country banks against the new currency bill by protesting that its rediscount provisions do not afford them ample facilities for transacting their business. The statement is made that 'country banks could offer for rediscount practically no paper of 45-day maturity, since their loans are for longer time.'

Not Honestly Made.

"Beside being absurd, this objection is not honestly made. As a matter of fact, the Aldrich bill provided a limit of 28 days' maturity, or 15 days shorter time than the provisions of this new bill, and yet the very country banks that are now alleged to be complaining against the 45-day provision of the Glass bill, indorsed, without a dissenting voice, the 28-day provision of the Aldrich bill, and some of the newspapers that are now snapping at such minor provisions of the Glass bill swallowed the Aldrich scheme whole.

"It was expected that this new currency bill would encounter difficulties and provoke criticisms; but it was not expected that it would have to endure such trivial and manifestly insincere objections as have proceeded from certain quarters in New York."

FIGHTING FOR CONTROL OF BRINSON RAILROAD

President G. M. Brinson Has Differences With Syndicate Represented by Jas. Imbrie.

Savannah, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—A hard fight is on in Savannah for the control of a Georgia railroad. In the offices of the Brinson railroad here a conference was begun today between the president and directors of the Brinson railroad and James Imbrie, of New York, who represents a syndicate that proposed to finance extensive additions to the road.

After a special meeting in May, it had been announced that Geo. M. Brinson, the founder of the road, would continue as its president but it was implied that the active financial interests that Mr. Imbrie represents would really have charge of the active operation. Although the conference began today at noon there was no recess for lunch or dinner. Early at night the meeting adjourned until tomorrow but no one would make a statement. The financial differences between Mr Brinson's interests and those represented by Mr. Imbrie have not been adjusted to any either party. Mr. Brinson has close to half a million dollars invested in his road and he is doing all in his power to retain the control of it. Two directors of the road failed of re-election at the annual meeting Monday. Mr. Brinson had reasons to believe they would favor the Imbrie interests at the meeting today.

"WOLF OF WALL ST." IS CLAIMED TO BE FORMER ATLANTAN

In the pictures of David Lamar, known as the "Wolf of Wall Street," and the man who has admitted impersonating a number of influential men in an effort to influence Wall street financiers, Atlantans have recognized the man who came here in 1892 and promoted various schemes in the manner of a "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" until he finally landed in jail.

Lamar came here and rented a fashionable home and started out on a money-getting scheme at once. He secured $500 from Sam Hall, a well-known Atlantan, to establish a society paper, but Mr. Hall never saw the paper and soon learned that he was never to see his money again.

Through a technicality Lamar escaped the clutches of the law and at once began to organize a street car advertising concern. From Dr. Joe Jacobs he secured $7,500. That scheme fell through, but Lamar kept the money he had got. Years later Dr. Jacobs ran across the man in New York and got his money back.

Finally when his various schemes had lost the faith that he seemed able to inspire he left here and went to Mobile. There he posed as a New York capitalist.

GEORGE L. BELL, JR., IS ADMITTED TO PRACTICE OF LAW

George L. Bell, Jr., son of Judge George L. Bell, of the Fulton superior court, was admitted to the practice of law yesterday. He graduated but a year ago from the Boys' High school and has not yet reached his majority. He is probably the youngest member of the legal profession in Georgia.

Mr. Bell studied during the past year at the Atlanta Law school, taking the regular first-year course and doing such additional work as to enable him to pass the examinations given those who received diplomas. He expects to attend the law school another year, and in the meantime is in the office with his brother, Clarence Bell, of the firm of Bell & Ellis, where he expects to get familiar this summer with the actual work of the profession.

Mr. Bell, in company with several others, was formally sworn in as a lawyer admitted to practice in the superior court by Deputy Clerk T. H. Jeffries Thursday morning. Others who took the oath were C. T. Brackett, P. B. O'Orr and Thomas A. Perry, Jr.

HIGH SCHOOL CONTESTS BEGIN IN CLASSIC CITY

Competition in Piano Playing and Debate on Woman Suffrage Start Things Going.

Athens, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—From every district of the state there are from ten to fifteen high school girls and boys in Athens today for the annual state high school contests which begin with the piano contest for the $200-scholarship in Brenau Conservatory of Music. The contest was held this afternoon on the chapel of the University of Georgia and the following young ladies entered:

First district, Claudia Hood, of Pembroke, and Cinda Tempnell, of Metter; second district, Eunice Van Landingham, of Cairo; third, Louise Feare, of American; fourth, Sallie L. Chapman, fifth, Roble Lowe, of Lithonia; sixth, Olivia Brown, of Griffin; eighth, Samilee Lowe, of Washington; ninth, Ruth Edwards, of Toccoa; tenth, Ruth Hargrove, eleventh, Elizabeth Lawrence, of Baxley, and Emmett Dasher of Valdosta.

The debate on woman's suffrage in Georgia was held tonight and the teams picked represent the best of the 75 inter-school debates held during the last winter and spring on this subject.

Tomorrow the declamation and recitation, the spelling and essay, and all the field day exercises in athletics will be held.

In the debate the affirmative won the decision. Baxley's team was the winner.

Lucius Tippett and Mack Rogers, Fitzgerald, had the negative, with only Sam Sasswitz championing the negative of all the high school boys in the state.

MONSTER BARBECUE TO BOOST HIGHWAY AT ELLIJAY TODAY

Ellijay, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—The various committees in charge have completed the arrangements for a memorable gathering at Ellijay tomorrow the object of which is the boosting of an automobile highway from Atlanta to Murphy, N. C., via Ellijay. A number of prominent speakers have been invited to be present to entertain and instruct the audience.

The barbecue committee has secured the services of Mr. Ivy, an expert barbecue artist from Atlanta, who has a summer home near Ellijay, to superintend the preparation of the repast.

The fattest beef from among the cattle on a thousand hills, the fattest lambs from the flocks that roam among the grassy slopes of the Blue Ridge and the most succulent pork from the Henson & Arnold stock ranch, and some of the fattest hens that ever laid an egg will be on the menu, barbecued to the queen's taste or made into Brunswick stew.

And then there will be gathered from the four quarters of Gilmer county a crowd that will be worth seeing, tall mountaineers, descended from revolutionary ancestors, with their beautiful rosy cheeked daughters and stalwart sons and buxom and healthy wives and fine squalling babies.

ALL GOTHAM DRUNKS BEING FINGER-PRINTED

New York, July 3.—At the height of the summer drinking season, the recently announced plan of finger-printing every one found guilty of intoxication has been put int effect. The police court magistrates found yesterday upon the first trial of the scheme that the police department did not have enough finger print experts to go around. Notwithstanding this, more than forty "drunks" were subjected to the new identification process.

The prints are to be filed away in the police courts and by means of them the magistrates hope to separate the professional drinkers from the mere amateurs. Admission to professional ranking carries with it a trem in the workhouse on Hallowell's island. A sufficient number of finger prints will further secure admission to the city's home for inebriates, when it is built.

POLICE SEEK AUTOIST WHO RAN DOWN CHILD

The police dragnet is out for the unknown chauffeur of the touring car which struck and seriously injured 14-year-old Eva Kilpatrick Wednesday afternoon on Mills street. The probabilities are that he will be heavily dealt with if caught.

A squad of detectives, under instructions of Chief James L. Beavers, has been detailed to the case. They so far are without any clue as the speeding machine, upon running down its victim, continued up the street at a rate so fast that eye-witnesses were unable to even ascertain the license number.

A number of pedestrians who saw the accident have told the police however, that the car's driver was a white man, and that he was its only occupant. The injured child was rushed to Grady hospital, where an operation was performed. It is believed she sustained internal injuries that are likely to result fatally.

FOUR WOMEN WANTED AS COPS BY BEAVERS

Determined in his plan to install women detectives in the police department, Chief James L. Beavers announced Thursday that, if necessary to comply with the law pertaining to women attaches to the police force, he will employ them as probation officers.

The board of police commissioners, at its next meeting, will be apprised of the chief's plan. If the body approves of it, he will proceed to employ four women for the detective bureau.

A section of the city ordinance prevents women policemen. The probation department, however, is not touched by this law, and the chief intends to legalize his move by giving his proposed female detectives the name of probation officers.

Wins Wheat Prize.

Dawson, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—J Senn, of Herod, has won the cash prize of $40 offered by Hon. J. R. Mercer for the best average yield of wheat produced on three acres or more. Mr. Senn harvested from 5 3-4 acres of land 111 1-2 bushels of wheat. Mr. Mercer has renewed his offer of wheat prizes for next year, open to all the farmers of Terrell and adjoining counties, for the largest yield of wheat, $30 for the second third and fourth best yields.

SEATS, BUT NO VOTES, FOR NEW COUNTY MEN

Proposition to Put Them on the Same Plane as Territorial Delegates in Congress.

One of two matters of particular interest which came before the house Thursday indicates a further effort to give Bleckley and Wheeler counties, whose representatives, Browning and McArthur, were unseated Wednesday, representation on the floor. This came in the form of a resolution proposed by Representative Wheatley, of Sumter, asking that the Bleckley and Wheeler county men be allowed seats on the floor of the house, and that they be consulted on local matters, but be denied the privilege of voting.

The resolution which was referred to the committee on rules would put the two members from the new counties on the same plan as territorial delegates in the congress of the United States. It is hardly probable that the resolution will pass.

The other matter was the creation, by special rule of a new enrollment committee. The great influx of bills has more than filled the hands of the committee on engrossment, so that help was necessary.

When the house reconvenes next Monday, it will find plenty of work on hand. The committees have already got their work well under way.

The house adjourned before 11 o'clock until next Monday morning.

The majority of the representatives left immediately for their homes or to attend various barbecues and Fourth of July celebrations to be held about the state.

House Bills.

The following bills were introduced in the house:

By Messrs. Stovall and Wall of Elbert, and Mr. Thompson of Madison. To fix the salaries of county treasurers at $200 per annum after January 1, 1915.

By Mr. Pharr, of Gwinnett. To provide for one registration for all elections.

BOARD TO MAKE EFFORT TO GET AUTO FOR TURNER

Members of the board of electrical control are going to make a determined effort to get an automobile for the use of City Electrician R. G. Turner.

At the meeting of the board Thurs*day afternoon the matter* was again brought up by a resolution urging council to authorize the purchase. The finance committee turned down the request when it was last made for the reason that the city was pinched for money.

City Electrician Turner has found a way to get the money. The city is going to collect a rebate on the white way lighting which amounts to about $12 a light, and it has been proposed that $650 be taken from the fund which will accrue in the department from that source. An additional $200 will be taken from another fund.

Special Order 131313 Puts Ban on Profanity In the Detective Bureau

Detective Chief Lanford issued special order No. 131313 yesterday. It pertained to profanity in the detective bureau. Hereafter, it declares, no one attached to the department shall express himself in the language profane. "It's a bad habit," he explained to the reporters, "and, besides, it doesn't sound nice."

Other than that, he would not commit himself.

"DADDY" OF THE PEN APPEALING FOR PARDON

Leavenworth, Kans., July 3.—Before turning over the state penitentiary to J. D. Botkin, his successor, Warden W. W. Godding made a last appeal to Governor Hodges today, recommending that David Truax, oldest prisoner at the institution, be pardoned. Truax, 82 years old, is known as "Daddy" to the other prisoners.

Truax killed John Lee, a comrade, and wounded William Lutz, members of the Soldiers' home at Dodge City, in 1905, for having taken a bottle of liquor out of his pocket. He was convicted and sentenced to serve 12 years. He has now served eight years. Truax receives a pension of $20 a month, which he sends to his crippled wife.

WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS DENIED SENATE HALL

Ladies Indignant at Solons' Refusal to Allow Use of the Chamber for Speeches.

Woman suffrage struck a rocky road in the Georgia state senate Thursday morning when a resolution instigated by some workers for the cause was laid on the table by a vote of twenty to seven.

The resolution was introduced by Senator Hule, of the thirty-fifth district by request. The resolution asked "that the use of the senate chamber be and the same is hereby granted to Mrs. S. E. Cunningham, Mrs. William H. Felton, Miss H. Augusta Howard, Mrs. J. J. Ansley, Mrs. J. H. Sibley and several gentlemen (all citizens of Georgia), on Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 8 o'clock, July 9 and 10 for the purpose of delivering addresses on "The Scope of the Elective Franchise."

Upon the reading of the measure Senator W. W. Stark, of the thirty-third district, said, "I presume that these good ladies of Georgia desire to enlighten this body of senators upon the subject of woman suffrage?"

"So far as I am informed the senator is correct," stated President Anderson.

"In that case," replied the senator from the thirty-third, "I make the *motion that the resolution be indefi*nitely tabled."

Upon the motion to table division was called and the vote stood twenty to seven to table the resolution.

No Sympathy With Cause.

It happened that Mrs. Mary L. McLendon and Mrs. Amelia R. Woodall, the president and secretary, respectively of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association were on the floor at the time, and they privately called the anti-woman suffrage senator to account for his action.

"Why did you make that motion to table our resolution, senator?" asked Mrs. McLendon.

"Because," replied the solon, in a courteous but frank and to the point manner, "I have absolutely no sympathy with your cause."

"But don't you think maybe you have made a mistake?" queried Mrs. Woodall.

"Maybe Christ made a mistake when he appointed twelve apostles and didn't make six of them women," retorted Stark. "Now, don't you think there ought to have been at least one woman in the place of Judas Iscariot?"

A little flame of indignation formed itself as Mrs. McLendon exclaimed, "Senator Stark, you are not orthodox!" and the argument came to an end in short order.

Women Indignant.

When Mrs. McLendon and Mrs. Woodall were asked about the entire affair they were both indignant with the senate, who opposed their request and asked that the senators who voted against the resolution to allow the association the privileges of the senate floor be scored for their littleness and narrow-mindedness.

The gentlemen referred to in the resolution who were to speak before the meeting were Martin V. Calvin, of Decatur; Leonard G. Grossman, George Beattie and T. J. Skellie.

An invitation from Dr. George F. Brown was extended the house and senate and to the attaches thereof to attend the talking and moving pictures at Grant Thursday night, and the invitation was accepted by a rising vote of thanks.

Sweat Resolution Tabled.

The resolution of Senator J. L. Sweat, of the fifth district, was allowed to remain on the table indefinitely at the request of the author. This resolution provides for the joint meeting of the senate and house committee on constitutional amendments for the purpose of reporting on all new proposed counties as soon as possible. The reason for Senator Sweat's request was that the chairman of the senate constitutional amendment committee was absent from the senate at that time.

New Senate Bills.

At 11 o'clock the seante and house adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday morning. A great majority of the legislators will spend the week-end at their respective homes.

The following bills were introduced in the senate Thursday morning:

By Senator Peyton of the Thirty-first—A bill to create the new county of Warner.

By Senator Olliff of the Fourth—A bill to amend the penal code concerning fishing.

By Senator DuBose of the Thirtieth—A bill to prohibit more than three members of the University of Georgia board of trustees from serving on each of the branch colleges.

By Senator Hixon of the Thirty-seventh—A bill regulating the salary of county officers.

By Senator Sweat of the Fifth—A bill to require compulsory education under certain conditions.

By Senator Sweat of the Fifth—A bill to drain certain swamp lands by a higher interest on bonds.

By Senator DuBose of the Thirtieth—A bill to make the president of the board of trustees of the South Georgia Normal school a member ex-officio of the board of trustees of the University of Georgia.

BOY DIES PLEADING NO PUNISHMENT FOR LAD WHO KILLED HIM

Pleading that his slayer be not punished for his deed, 14-year-old John Edgar, who was accidentally stabbed by a playmate, Frank Barton, Wednesday afternoon, died at Grady hospital Thursday morning.

The stabbing occurred at the injured boy's home, 81 Kennedy street. The two were playing in the yard, and in a boyish tussle, an open knife held in the hand of the Barton boy, was plunged into the chest of his companion.

No arrest was made. A number of persons were eye-witnesses, and bore out the statement of both boys that the cutting was unintentional.

The boy is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Edgar. The funeral will be from the residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be in Hollywood.

SOUTHERN COMPLETES NEW STATION AT BUFORD

Buford, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—The Southern Railroad company has just completed a handsome new depot here at a cost of $16,000. The various office departments as well as both white and colored waiting rooms are very large and commodious. The roofing is of a quaint design of terra-cotta, with stucco walls, presenting a very attractive appearance.

Apex of Sporting World Is Reached Today

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Going at Real Clip.

THE CRACKERS are again traveling at their true clip. The team must have just hit a natural slump that all good ball clubs grab every now and then. Of the last seventeen games played eleven of them have been on the right side of the ledger and when it is taken into consideration that ten of the seventeen games were played away from home you've just got to doff your Kellys to the local crew.

Deny Allegation.

THE MEMBERS of the Atlanta team have taken exception to Whiffs' criticisms. They accuse this column of knocking. We deny the allegation flat footed. Legitimate criticism is not knocking and never will be. We have always been heart and soul with the team and it hurts us as much to have them lose as it does Manager Smith—and every fan knows how hard Billy loses.

The Real Import.

OUR CRITICISMS were made in all fairness, hopefulness and optimism. Even when criticising, we hoped for the better and quickly. It hurt us to see the best ball club in the league slipping, for no apparent reason. We hoped by our criticism to point out a fault here and there, that in the melee playing of the game might be overlooked by the manager and the fellow players. But we see that our intentions have been misconstrued.

No Dissension.

BUT WHY all this conflab about nothing? It's just a difference of opinion after all. We thought we were right in criticising and we still think so. The players don't think we were. We entertain them no hard feelings and no doubt they feel the same way. It's all in the point of view, as the comic strips read. Let's wipe off the slate and go right back at the opposition hand and hand for the remainder of the campaign. A little pep.

The Winners.

TO NAME the winners in the three important fights of the day is a task that Whiffs does not attempt. But glancing over the papers that are received in the exchanges every day, the general picking is Ritchie to defend his title against Rivers, Anderson to win from Cross and Britton to outbox White.

Pulled a Bone.

JOHN DOBBS is peeved over the trade engineered by President Jones with the New Orleans club, whereby Kutina and Bagby go to the Pelicans for Snedecor and some cash. And Johnny has every right to be sore. Just a case of meddling president, who knows nothing about the managerial end of the game, spoiling all the well laid plans of a good manager. Jones joins the Alibi club with Hirsig, of Nashville. Who's next?

Too Bad.

THE CRACKERS seem to have lost "Pop Boy" Smith. He went into the game Wednesday and allowed only one hit in four innings, causing Comiskey to wire the Chisels of that day morning that the deal was off. But as the local club accepted Comiskey's own proposition, if they want to be nasty they can make him deliver the youngster by appealing to the national commission. It all depends on later developments whether they do or not.

Give Them Their Due.

THE GULLS have been showing perceptible signs of slipping of late, but one must give the team its due. Mike Finn has a good ball club. The pressent slump has been the result of the worst of the luck. With Charley Starr and Baby Doll Jacobson out of the pastime, the Gulls were due to slip. These two men comprised the bulk of both the offensive and defensive strength of the club. Starr, Jacobson, Robertson and Schmidt made the Gulls. To cut two of the team's formidable quartet from its ranks at one fell swoop should result in a slump. The Gulls are only human, and they could not withstand the strain. Jacobson is lost for the season, but when Baby Doll's back in harness watch the improvement in the team's play. He is to the Gulls what Otto Jordan was to the pennant-winning Crackers of 1907 and 1908.

Busy Day This.

TODAY is the busiest day of the year in the sporting calendar, barring possibly Labor day. Three good prize fights, an international cycle match and two games of baseball in all organized leagues are the attractions elsewhere. Locally, two games of ball, a big field day, a golf meet, a gun club shoot and some motorcycle races should give the sport-loving public the entire a variety of events to choose from.

Price Blanks the Pelicans; Bisland and Smith Hit Hard; Two Star Fielding Plays

By Dick Jemison.

Gil Price pitched another one of his excellent games yesterday afternoon, and the transferred game between the Pelicans and the Crackers was captured by the Crackers 9 to 0.

Price held the Pelicans to seven hits and kept them scattered throughout the fray. He was backed up by faultless and wide awake support by his teammates, the local playing the kind of baseball of which they are capable, behind him.

Walker, whom the New Orleans papers have been touting as the Walter Johnson of the Southern league, started out like a lion and wound up like a lamb. He had a peck of stuff and smoke in the first inning, but it began to slow up after the Crackers started to get to him.

Ten bingles for sixteen bases and nine runs were what they collected from his speedy slants and excellent fielding kept the number down considerably.

Plenty of Life.

The Crackers showed plenty of life in the field at the bat and on the paths. They swiped five bases Thursday, which is more than they have stolen in a game the entire season.

Wallop Smith was the chief thorn in the side of the Pelicans. He stung Walker for a single a long drive and worked him for two free tickets. Of the nine runs that the Crackers made, Wallop was responsible for seven of them. He drove in four and tallied three. It was a great day for the big third sacker, whom Atlanta fans have come to consider the best all around ball player in the Southern league.

Bisland had a good day with the bat, his two triples being hard smashes and of the timely variety. Both drove in runs. He drove in three runs, Smith four, Agler and the other was the result of an error.

Gil Price played a grand fielding game, besides pitching well. But he added insult to injury when he was already heaping on the New Orleans club by getting three bingles. Two of them were beautiful safe bunts on which he caught the New Orleans infield flat-footed.

There were many good fielding plays throughout the game, but two of them stood out more prominently than the rest.

Two Fielding Stunts.

In the third inning Welchonce stung a hot grounder past the pitcher's box that looked like a hit, but McDowell, the New Orleans second sacker, dove at it, caught it, and while living prostrate on the ground, tossed the ball to Clancy for a force out. It was a wonderful play.

Jerome Long contributed the other feature fielding stunt when he crashed up against the signs in right field, after Spencer's liner, capturing it just before he hit the sign, but fielding on to the ball. The speed merchant was given the ovation that he deserved.

Harry Welchonce equaled his one hundredth hit of the season, the first Southern league player to reach the century mark. Robertson, of Mobile, is next, with 98, and Long, of Atlanta, third, with 98.

At the game it was thought that Welchonce had undisputed claim to having the first man in the entire country to reach 100 hits, but when Joe Jackson got three hits in four tries against Detroit yesterday, he boosted his to the century.

How We Scored.

The Crackers scored first in the second inning, when Smith worked Walker for a free ticket, stole second and counted when Bisland drove out a three sacker to left.

In the fourth, Bailey led off with a single, went to third on a passed ball, and tallied when Smith bounced one over the pitcher's head for a hit. Bisland hit to Williams, who threw bad to first, Smith going to third, and when Bagby threw badly to third, try-ing to catch Walker, he counted.

In the fifth Price laid down a safe bunt. Welchonce slapped a single past short, and Alpermann was hit filling the bases. Bailey hit to Bagby, who killed Price at the plate. But Wallop picked out a good one and rammed it against the signboards in right field, cleaning the sacks.

In the eighth, with two gone, Bailey got a free ticket and Smith got a free ticket and Bisland counted them with his second three sacker to left. Agler counted Bisland with a single to right.

Today's Program.

The morning game today will start at 10:45 o'clock. Elliott Dent will probably work for the Crackers and Chapman behind the bat. Brenton and Adams will probably be the opposing battery.

The afternoon game will commence promptly at 4 o'clock, with Jim Brady occupying the mound for the locals and Chapman against him. Wilson will probably twirl for the Birds, with Adams at the receiving end.

Boston, July 3.—A pair of two-base hits counting in the fifteenth inning today ended the longest game of the season here, score 1 to 0, in Washington's favor. Collins had the better of Johnson in the matter of hits, but the latter did some fine fielding, and was given brilliant support. Boston was in a position to score on many occasions, but the Washington pitcher tightened up every time. The game was played rapidly, nine innings requiring only 70 minutes. The outfielders captured many flies, and twenty-seven batters were retired in that way. Manager Griffith was benched for disputing a decision.

COMISKEY BACKS DOWN ON LOCALS

Recalls Proposition for "Pop Boy" Smith—The Former Baron's Work Wednesday the Cause.

Charles Comiskey, "The Old Roman," owner of the Chicago White sox, has backed down on his proposition to the Crackers, and the locals may not get Clarence "Pop Boy" Smith after all.

Comiskey offered Smith to the Crackers for $2,000, under optional agreement. This was in a night letter Tuesday night. The local club accepted his proposition by wire Wednesday morning.

Thursday morning the local club received a wire from Comiskey calling off the deal.

Smith pitched the last four innings of the game against the Detroit Tigers on Wednesday, and held that hard-hitting crowd to one hit. This made such an impression that the White Sox decided to call off the trade.

The local club is still hot after Smith, however, and hope yet to be able to land him. If they wanted to be nasty about it, they could force Comiskey to turn the pitcher over to the locals, but they will hardly take such a step.

It is more than likely that if Comiskey does not let the Crackers have Smith, that he will send another hurler down here, this request having been made of him by the local club.

SOUTH ATLANTIC

Foxes 4, Gulls 3.

Columbus, Ga., July 3.—Columbus took the last of the four-game series from Charleston this afternoon, 4 to 3. This gives Columbus three out of the series. Winston and McDuff were the hitters of the day, each getting two hits out of three trips to the plate.

Gainesville Winner.

Gainesville, Ga., July 3.—(Special.) Gainesville won from Georgia Railway and Electric company, of Atlanta, today 11 to 4. The feature of the game was the hard hitting of the Gainesville team. Burr got 4 out of 5 and Smith 3 out of 4. Charley Lokey and McNeil hit for homers. These two teams play a double-header tomorrow. Batteries: For Gainesville, Smith and McNeil; for Georgia Railway, Williamson and Farris. Umpires, Willingham and Boyd.

McGRAW SUSPENDED; BRENNAN IS FINED

New York, July 3.—President Lynch, of the National league, announced today that he had suspended John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and Pitcher Brennan, of the Philadelphia club, for five days because of a free fight after the game in Philadelphia last Monday. Brennan is fined $100.

Lynch said today the evidence showed conclusively both players were in violation of the rules because they indulged in personalities during the game.

Dundee v. Dixon.

Albuquerque, N. M., July 3.—Johnny Dundee, of New York, and Tommy Dixon, of Kansas City, rested today in preparation for their ten-round fight in Albuquerque tomorrow afternoon. Dundee rules a slight favorite in the betting with considerable Dixon money available. Both are contenders for Johnnie Kilbane's title in the featherweight division.

Big Field and Track Meet At Piedmont Park Today; First Event at 10 O'Clock

Atlanta's first big field and track meet will be held this morning at Piedmont park, the first event on the program being slated to start promptly at 10 o'clock. All entrants are requested to be at the west side of the grounds by not later than 9:45 o'clock for their final instructions.

With sixty-seven individual entrants in the nine events, 175 entries in all will be recorded, counting each individual event as contests in.

Joe Dean, physical director of the Atlanta Athletic club, has been the power in getting up this big meet, and it promises to be such a tremendous success that others will be pulled off in the future and on an even larger scale.

The Entrants.

All contestants will be expected to furnish their own numbers. The entrants are numbered as follows:

1, Hugh Mauck; 2, John Roberts; 3, Judge Fowler; 4, Walter Locke; 5, Charles Allen; 6, Walter Dubard; 7, Lynn Brannen; 8, Tilleu Forbes; 9, Lamar Weaver; 10, John Graves; 11, Robert Hubert; 12, Tom Abbott; 13, J. McNeil and Richards Will Handicap the Other Riders At Motordrome Tonight

Just by way of showing that they are real riders, Jock McNeil and "Tex" Richards have agreed to make handicap affairs out of the Bobby Walthour sweepstakes and the motordrome purse tonight. By special arrangement McNeil and Richards will start a quarter of a lap in the preliminary heats and a half lap back in the final heats. To the fans it means they will have to pick up this handicap and overhaul the men who get away ahead.

Of course, this does not stand if Morty Graves gets his machine running right. He has a tremendous new engine, and he is tuning it up today. If he gets it going at its best Richards and McNeil will not have time to think of any handicaps. They will be forced to ride for their lives.

Graves will show the Atlanta public something about speed they never suspected before. Some doubt exists, however, as to whether or not Graves can possibly get his machine tuned right for tonight. If he does not the handicap stuff stands.

If he does, then the slow boys better look out for themselves, for Graves, Richards and McNeil will mingle in a speed duel that will stand the speed bugs on their toes and set some new records for the track.

A corking good card has been prepared for tonight. Here it is:

Novice Race.

(Mile heats, 2-mile final, to start at 8:10 p. m.)

First Heat—No. 11, Houston Crane, No. 12, Nemo Lancaster.

Second Heat—No. 14, "Happy" Kimbrough, No. 15, Ralph Rout.

Final Heat—At 2 miles.

Mile time trial to beat record of :38 4-5, Jock McNeil.

(To start at 8:27 p. m.)

Walthour Sweepstakes.

(Three-mile heats to qualify, 5-mile finals.)

First Heat—No. 1, Morty Graves; No. 6, Freddie Luther; No. 9, Henry Lewis.

Second Heat—No. 2, Harry Swartz; No. 3, Billy Shields; No. 8, Jock McNeil.

Third Heat—No. 4, George Lockner; No. 5, Tex Richards; No. 7, Georges Renel.

Final heat, 5 miles.

Motordrome Purse.

(Two miles to qualify, 4 miles final.)

First Heat—No. 7, Georges Renel; No. 9, Harry Lewis; No. 6, Freddie Luther.

Second Heat—No. 8, Jock McNeil; No. 4, George Lockner; No. 2, Harry Swartz.

Third Heat—No. 1, Morty Graves; No. 5, Tex Richards; No. 3, Billy Shields.

Final Heat—Four miles.

GRANT AND THORNTON DOUBLES CHAMPIONS

Defeated Mansfield and Smith Thursday for Georgia Title.

By Hal Reynolds.

In the play-off of the match in the final round yesterday afternoon at the Driving club for the double's championship of the state, Grant and Thornton downed their old-time rivals, Smith and Mansfield, in straight sets, 6-4, 11-9, 7-5.

Play began with Grant and Thornton having the advantage in sets, they having captured the first set 6-4, and the score being 7 all in the second, when rain broke it up last Saturday week.

Grant and Thornton quickly won the first game played yesterday, making the score 8-7 in their favor, but Smith and Mansfield put over several pretty shots in succession, winning the game and making the score 8 all.

Net Play Used.

Both teams used net-play whenever it was possible, although the serving side always reaches the net first, the server usually handing out a high serve, in order to have time to reach the net.

For the first five games of the match the server won his game each time, until the sixth when Smith lost his. Grant and Thornton winning the game and thereby the set.

Smith and Mansfield were put on the defensive from the very beginning, Grant and Thornton capturing the first game and always the first one after the score was deuced.

In the third set after Grant and Thornton had Smith and Mansfield 3-1, the latter won the fifth game, and with the score fifth-forty against them in the sixth, pulled up and finally won out, trying the score 3 all.

Losers Led Once.

The only time that Smith and Mansfield led in games during the afternoon was in the third set when they had their opponents 5-4, but Grant and Thornton came strong in the next game with their net-work and cross-court shots, winning the game and also the next two, which gave them the game 7-5 and also the match.

Mansfield did some pretty playing on numerous occasions when he returned the hard shots which his opponents directed at him. Grant and Thornton played him almost entirely throughout the match, preferring his returns to the rifle-like shots of Smith.

In the finals in the mixed doubles, Miss Stanton and Thornton won by default from Miss Muse and Carter, as Carter is playing in the tournament now going on at Augusta and was out of town.

Baseball Club Not Liable When Spectator Is Hit By Foul to Grandstand

St. Paul, Minn., July 3.—That the plaintiff assumed the risk of injury when she took a seat in the baseball grandstand and that the management of the club was insurer incident to witnessing a game of baseball, was the opinion of the Minnesota supreme court today in the case of Echo L. Wells against the Minnesota Baseball and Athletic association.

The plaintiff, who was injured by a foul tip while sitting in the grandstand, gained a verdict of $825 against the organization in a lower court, but the supreme court reversed this decision.

GERMAN TENNIS STARS WIN DOUBLES MATCH

Wimbledon, Eng., July 3.—The German Davis cup players, Friedrich Wilhelm Rahe and Heinrich Kleinschroth, beat J. F. Parke and A. F. Beamish today in the final round of the all-England men's double champion-ship lawn tennis tournament by three straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. The Germans play C. P. Dixon and H. Roper Barrett, the title holders, tomorrow.

Mrs. R. Lambert Chambers, formerly well known as Miss Lottie Douglass, won the title of lady champion by defeating Mrs. McNair in the final round of the ladies' singles today by 6-4, 6-4. Mrs. Larcombe, the holder, was not able to defend her title.

JOHNSON'S BOND WILL NOT BE FORFEITED

Chicago, July 3.—The government's motion for the forfeiture of $30,000 bond of Jack Johnson to secure his appearance for trial October 13 was denied by Federal Judge Carpenter here today.

This bond was on an indictment charging Johnson with white slavery in transporting Belle Schreiber from Milwaukee to Chicago. The case in which the fighter was convicted was bringing the Schreiber woman from Pittsburg to this city. He appealed, and pending decision was allowed liberty on $15,000 bail.

Judge Carpenter stated that precedent does not warrant forfeiting a bond merely because a defendant has left the jurisdiction of the court.

Gainesville Celebrates July 4 With Field Day And Fats and Leans Game

Gainesville, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—The Fourth of July will be celebrated in this city by a "safe and sane" old-fashioned athletic meet.

The contests will be participated in by the people of Hall and adjacent counties, the railroads running special trains for these spectacular events.

Under the direction of Riverside's new famous coach, Frank Anderson, contests such as greasy pig chases, foot races, jumping contests and greasy pole climbing will be held.

Many prizes have been offered by the public-spirited merchants and the celebrated band of the Woodmen of the World will fill the aid with music.

This day will be under the auspices of the chamber of commerce and promises to be as interesting as it will be amusing.

To cap the climax and end the day with more fun than baseball will be a contest between the "fats and leans," such gentlemen as Colonel Fleether Johnson and Sheriff Crow participating. Gainesville has been accorded the driest town in the state by the commercial travelers, but on July 4 th echamber of commerce will July 4 the chamber of commerce will onade.

Gainesville welcomes everybody on this day and promises them all a good time.

$1,983,564,757 LOST ON FOUR COTTON CROPS

Agricultural Department Furnishes Some Startling Figures for Southern Farmers.

Washington, July 3.—The enormous sum of $1,983,564,757 represents the hypothetical money loss through damage from various causes to the cotton crops of 1909, 1910, 1911 and 1912 in the United States, the department of agriculture's bureau of statistics has figured out. No less than 16,084,793,100 pounds of lint loss is the aggregate of this damage to the four crops. The causes and extent of this damage to cotton forms an interesting feature of a report just issued. Climatic conditions formed the principal element of loss.

Damage to the 1912 crop amounted to $459,349,251, or 3,765,187,000 pounds of lint cotton. The total damage from

SOCIETY

DINNER DANCE BRINGS SOCIETY TO COUNTRY CLUB

The first of the series of dinner-dances at the Country club of the Capital City club was a delightful occasion last night when over a hundred guests enjoyed an al fresco dinner on the club porches and dancing afterward.

The tables were on the side porch and the rear porch looking toward the lake and each table had as a centerpiece a crystal vase filled with blooming flowers.

The menu served was delicious, including the dishes most relished in summer, and there was music during dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maddox entertained a party of thirty at dinner, their guests including their neighbors of the country colony. Others entertaining were Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Watson, Mr. W. H. Prescott, Mr. W. B. McBurney, Mr. E. W. Alfriend, Mr. Edward Austin, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hatcher, Mr. Lee Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Meek, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hockaday.

To Miss Gladys Snook.

Colonel and Mrs. Robert J. Lowry gave a beautiful dinner of twelve covers at the Piedmont Driving club last night in honor of Miss Gladys Snook, who is receiving many attentions during her summer vacation at home. The table on the terrace was elaborately adorned with flowers, pink and white roses combined and the fairy lamps were tipped with pink shades. Miss Snook wore a becoming toilet in white, her hat trimmed in lavender.

To Visitors.

At the lovely new home in Druid Hills, "Glengassah," Miss Mildred Dobbs has been entertaining a house party consisting of her two cousins, Misses Lois and Ellen Mixon, of Macon, and Annie Hale and Julia Adams of Atlanta. Mrs. Joan Cooper entertained Tuesday at East Lake at a swimming party in their honor. The Misses Adams will entertain for them Friday afternoon. Mrs. S. C. Dobbs will entertain Tuesday night, July 8, 40 young people. S. C. Dobbs, Jr., is expecting a guest in a few days, Master Harry Maxwell, of Trenton, N. J., to join the house party.

Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Rose M. Ashley, worthy grand master of the Order of the Eastern Star of Georgia, leaves today for official visit and annual inspection to the chapters in Carnesville, Lexington, Cornelia, Gainesville and other places.

Mrs. Ashley will also hold a school of instruction at one of these places and give detailed instruction in the principles of the order.

July Fourth Services.

The Joseph Habersham Chapter, D. A. R., has accepted Bishop C. K. Nelson's invitation to unite with him in services appropriately commemorating Independence Day, July 4.

This service will be at 10 o'clock Friday morning at St. Phillip's church.

Dinner-Dance at Driving Club

The usual Saturday night dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club will be the concluding event of a gay week, and will assemble a party of a hundred and fifty guests. Club members are requested to reserve their tables as soon as possible to insure their adequate entertainment.

Voight-Hand.

The wedding of Miss Aileen Voight and Mr. Eugene Harvey Hand of Columbia, S. C., took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George Tucker, on East Pine street, Saturday, June 28.

The wedding was a quiet one, only the family and a few friends were present.

Mr. Russell H. Smith, of the Epiphany Episcopal church, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a traveling suit of delph blue with hat and gloves of the same color. Her flowers were a corsage of white roses.

The matron of honor was Mrs. George Lucker.

Mr. and Mr. Hand left for a wedding journey and on their return they will be at home in Columbia, S. C.

July Fourth Entertainment.

The "Tango Evening" to be given under the auspices of the Joseph Habersham Chapter D. A. R. will be largely attended by representative society folks of Atlanta, and many prominent visitors.

Between the hours of 9 and 10 some of Atlanta's best singers will delight their hearers. Dancing will begin at 10 o'clock.

Evening suits will not be required as there will be the same informality that prevails at the club dances during the summer.

Tickets are $1 and include refreshments and the privilege of dancing.

Club to Meet.

The Young Girls Club of Inman park will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. F. S. Dobbs in Inman park.

Werber-Garraux.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Werber announce the marriage of their daughter, Carmen Odessa, to Mr. Ernest Vester Garraux, the ceremony having taken place on Thursday, July 3, and being performed by Rev. Dunbar H. Ogden.

To Misses Hamilton.

Mr. Rosser Crichton will give a dancing party Tuesday evening in compliment to Misses Elizabeth and Lila Ward Hamilton, of Rome, who are the guests of Mrs. Eugene Crichton.

Dancing-Tea.

Miss Margaret Grant, recently home from school in New York, was the lovely honor guest at Mrs. Frank Richardson's 5 o'clock tea yesterday at the Driving club.

The party included eight young girls with as many men, and they had tea on the ballroom porch, the table gay with sweet peas. Afterwards they danced.

Mrs. Richardson wore a charming crepe gown in white with a trimming in old blue, and her hat was trimmed with garden flowers and blue ribbon. Miss Grant's becoming costume was of white chiffon combined with blue, and her picture hat was all black.

To Miss Lewis.

Mrs. Chris A. Rauschenberg, Jr., will give a "42" party next Wednesday afternoon in compliment to Miss Laurette Lewis.

Mrs. Jere Taylor will entertain on Thursday morning. Miss Lalehan Moncrief's "42" party will be given Friday afternoon, the 11th, and Miss Clementine Le Vert will give a matinee party Saturday, the 12th.

Miss Dunson's Tea.

Miss Edith Dunson's 5 o'clock tea yesterday at the East Lake clubhouse was a delightful affair assembling a small party of young women to meet Miss Mary Blalock's attractive guest, Miss Ruth Matta, of Baton Rouge.

Miss Dunson wore a dainty costume in all white, her gown of embroidered voile and her chip hat trimmed with wings.

Porch Dance.

A delightful occasion among the young people still in school and college was the dancing party given Wednesday night by Howard H. McCall, Jr., at the summer home of his grandfather, Captain R. W. Tidwell His cousin, Mr. Reuben Tidwell, of Denver, was guest of honor.

It was an out-door party, dancing being enjoyed on the spacious veranda at the back of the house, the veranda hung with woodland vines and Japanese lanterns. A smaller porch was made into a palm garden where punch was served, and ices were passed under the trees.

Clover Club.

The Clover club of the Y. W. C. A. was delightfully entertained on Wednesday evening, June 25, by Dr. and Mrs. Homer Joy at their home on Capitol avenue. Besides the club members present, there were Mrs. Charles Haden, Miss Stockweather, traveling secretary of the National Y. W. C. A. and Miss Langford, secretary of the Columbia, S. C. association. After a delicious al fresco supper, we were entertained by reports from our delegates to the A. W. C. A. conference, Miss Dora Cagle and Miss Ada Moore, and by interesting talks by Mrs. Haden and Miss Stockweather.

Ice Cream Festival.

The Young People's Missionary Society (No. 1) of St. Mark church will hold an ice cream festival Monday afternoon, July 7th, from 5 to 7 on the church lawn, corner Peachtree and Fifth streets. Ice cream, home-made cakes, candies and sandwiches will be for sale. Everyone is cordially invited to come and bring his friends.

Those to assist in making the occasion a success are: Miss Mary Andrews, Miss Annie Winship Bates, Miss Helen Billingsly, Dr. B. C. Bird, Miss Margaret Bivings, Miss Evelyn Brassell, Miss Nell Choate, Mr. Henry Clark, Mr. Foster B. Crutcher, Mr. J. W. Davis, Miss Sarah Eubanks, Mr. L. A. Greybill, Mr. Ben Hall, Jr., Miss Leland Hughlett, Miss Naomi Jennison, Miss Faith Johnson and Miss Patsy Lupo, Miss Linda Miller, Mr. Royall Miller, Mr. Thomas Miller, Mr. Guy Morgan, Mr. Ashley McGee, Mr. Lewis McCravey, Mr. Lawrence McCullough, Miss Lucy McKennie, Mr. Clifford Neal, Mr. Avon Peacock, Mr. Worth Peacock, Mr. George Raine, Mr. Perry F. Rayhon, Mr. Forrest Roberts, Miss Mary Grey Rushin, Miss Dorothy Traynham, Mr. Goodwyn Walker.

Gaieties at Woodshack.

A happy expression of hospitality was the 5 o'clock tea given yesterday by Miss Dodo White, the occasion a compliment to her house party, Miss Helen Dunn, of Lake Providence, La.; Miss Elizabeth Stubbs, of Shreveport, La.; Miss Cleta Slagel, of Clarks, La., and Miss Alice Jones, of Birmingham.

Jessie Wilson "Thirteenth" Girl
To Become White House Bride

Washington, July 3.—President Wilson's declaration that the generally supposed hoo-doo "13" was his lucky number, and always had been, was recalled by society today in connection with the announcement of the engagement of Miss Jessie Wilson, second daughter of the president and Mrs. Wilson, to Francis B. Sayre of Lancaster, Pa. The influence of the president's lucky "13," it is believed, extends to the entire Wilson family. For Miss Wilson, engaged in 1913 and to become a matron in 1913, will be the "thirteenth" white house bride.

The first wedding in the white house was during the Madison administration, when in 1811 Miss Lucy Payne Washington became the wife of Judge Todd, of Kentucky. Miss Washington was a sister of Mrs. Madison, and in the following year Mrs. Madison gave up the white house for the wedding of a cousin, Miss Anna Todd.

Weddings followed after that in the Monroe and Adams administrations until President Jackson set the records for nuptials performed under official auspices. During his regency three weddings were solemnized. The last wedding was that of Miss Alice Roosevelt to Representative Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, in 1906.

The only president of the United States to be married in the white house was President Cleveland, who married Miss Frances Folsom there in 1886. The total to date is twelve. Miss Wilson's wedding will be the thirteenth.

all college mates of Miss White at Sophie Newcombe.

Fourth of July was anticipated in a gala use of the national colors, flags and garden flowers being combined with charming decorative affect, and delicious hot weather dainties were served.

Mrs. W. Woods White received with her daughter, and assisting in entertaining were Miss Frances Ansley, Miss Louise Dobbs, Miss Dorothy Traynham, Miss Margaret Fraser, Miss Frances Bailey, Miss Margaret Moore, Miss Emily Lowry Freeman, Miss Marian Wooley, Miss Laura Sawtell, Miss Madge Pollock, Miss Harriet Haynes, Miss Marian Neal and Miss Marie Cobb.

The assisting party remained for the evening, when they were joined by a number of gentlemen.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. White will entertain again informally, and other pretty courtesies are being extended the attractive group of visitors.

College Tea.

At Mrs. Karl Brittain's home yesterday the Brenau colony entertained delightfully at tea in compliment to the new students from Atlanta at Brenau the past year.

The college colors, yellow and black, were effectively used in decoration, the midsummer flowers in yellow being combined with yellow and black tulle, white palms and smilax made a cool background.

The club officers, Mrs. V. J. Adams, Miss Mary Lucy Turner, and Mrs. W. M. Owens received with Mrs. Brittain.

To Miss Irwin.

A bright company of seventy young people were the guests of Judge and Mr. Beverly D. Evans last night, the occasion a compliment to their guest, Miss Beverly Irwin, of Dawson, Ga., a pretty school girl.

The house and porch were attractively decorated with flowering plants, woodland vines and flowers and the table and white phlox and dainty refreshments were served from the dining room, where a prettily appointed table had its centerpiece, of pink and white roses.

Miss Laura Cowles and Miss Lawson Hines served punch on the porch, and Miss Dorothy Evans, of Sandersville, and Miss Georgia Rice also assisted in entertaining.

Mrs. Evans was becomingly gowned in white crepe embroidered, and Miss Irwin wore white.

Among the guests were Miss Rachael Beck, Miss Harriet Haynes, Miss Jane Cowles, Miss Louise Collier, Miss Marian Woolley, Miss Laura Cowles, Miss Ida Winship, Miss Louise Parker, Miss Dolly Blalock, Miss Katherine Reynolds, Miss Louise Cooper, Miss May Crichton, Miss Mary Adelaide Caverty, Miss Lawson Hines, Miss Amelia Smith, Miss Margaret Taylor, Miss Mary McClesky, Miss Mary Brown, Miss Mary Stewart, Miss Margaret Rosser, Miss Emma Lowry Freeman, Miss Annie Patterson, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Miss Marian Dunson, Miss Georgia Rice, Miss Gladys White, Miss Evelyn Arnold, Miss Dorothy Evans, Mr. Lanrian Goldsmith, Mr. Edgar Carter, Mr. Walter Conklin, Mr. Joe Heard, Mr. Lewis Rosser, Mr. Robert Hulbert, Mr. John Westmoreland, Mr. John White, Mr. Frank Hooker, Mr. Theodore Smith, Mr. Colquitt Howard, Mr. Victor Hobbs, Mr. Tom Wright, Mr. Albion Cowles, Mr. Harvey Maupin, Mr. Sam Mangham, Mr. Douglas Mangham, Mr. Fred Crandall, Mr. Sid Leroi, Mr. T. H. Brannen, Mr. Joe Walker, Mr. John Porter, Mr. Ellison Cornell, Mr. John Oliver, Mr. Edwin Lockridge, Mr. Edwin Cooledge, Mr. Kendrick Smith, Mr. John Sloan, Mr. Beverly Evans, Jr., Mr. Burgess Ward, Mr. Raimond Brady, Mr. John Stewart, Mr. Van Mall, Mr. Hugh Willet, Mr. Thomas Crenshaw, Mr. George Brown, Mr. Howard McCall, Mr. John Perry.

Sewing Party.

An enjoyable event among the series of entertainments in compliment to Miss Laurette Lewis was the sewing party yesterday at which Mrs. W. L. Johnson was hostess.

The house had an effective decoration in ferns and zinias, and dainty refreshments were served. The bride-to-be was showered with pretty things for her new home.

Mrs. Johnson wore a becoming morning gown of embroidered marquisette and Miss Lewis wore a smart white linen suit.

COTTON MADE BREAK FOLLOWING REPORT

But Rallies in Last Half Hour Wiped Out Some of the Loss.

New York, July 3.—The cotton market broke following the publication of the government crop report today, but offerings did not become general, and slight rallies occurred in the last half hour, with the close steady at a net decline of 9 to 12 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 1 to 4 points, on a continuation of yesterday's covering movement, reports of a better spot demand in Liverpool and steady cables. Realizing checked the advance at about the opening figures and sent the market og to a net loss of 3 to 6 points during the middle of the morning. There was some Liverpool selling at near months, while New Orleans and Memphis houses were moderate sellers on new crop positions, but there was continued nervousness as to the showing of the official crop statement, and prices rallied toward midday on renewed covering.

Just before the report was issued, active months were 2 to 3 points above the closing figures of last night, but the condition of 81.8 was 1.8 points higher than suggested by the private report of yesterday, and the market immediately weakened.

After showing a net loss of 13 to 15 points, it rallied 7 or 8 points from the lowest, but soon eased off again, under pressure which seemed to come chiefly from commission houses. Covering seemed chiefly responsible for the late rally and was probably promoted by the proximity of the close and the American markets will remain closed until next Monday morning. The government's estimate of acreage indicating an increase of 2.3 per cent over last year fell somewhat short of recent private figures, and the statement as a whole was on the basis for not only varying deductions as to possible outturn.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 12.35; do gulf, 12.60; sales, 4,355 bales.

New York, July 3.—Today's bureau report indicating an increase in acreage of approximately 2½ per cent and an improvement in the condition of the crop during the past month of early and late sowing followed by liquidation and a decline of 15 points in prices. There had been considerable long selling of cotton on this morning, but with the exception of the reselling of some of these purchases, the market was without heavy offerings.

While crop reports continue favorable, the decreased local stocks acts as a check upon selling.

WHEAT LOST NEARLY ALL GAIN LATE IN DAY

Rumors of Large Export Business Could Not Be Verified—Corn Higher.

Chicago, July 3.—Persistent rumors that a large amount of export business had been done, gave the bulls control of the wheat market today, but the resulting gain largely disappeared when diligent inquiry failed to show that the stories had much basis in fact. Last prices were relatively weak, but 1-4 to 3-8c over last night. Corn finished 1-8 off to 1-8 up, oats a shade lower to 1-8 a 1-4 advance and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a gain of 12 1-2c.

Bullish cables tended to make plausible the belief that export trade in wheat was in progress on a liberal scale. Less favorable crop advices came from both Russia and France and there was an uneasy feeling in regard to Balkan war developments. In addition some of the big houses received adverse reports concerning the domestic spring wheat outlook. Heavy selling on the advance in the wheat pit shook the confidence of buyers, especially during the last half hour. Only 50,000 bushels could be confirmed as actually having been sold here for export and there was decided scepticism about alleged foreign movement to Kansas and New York. It was also brought out that the weather practically everywhere northwest had been showery and cool and that there was now no distress in sight for the spring crop.

Corn scored a fair advance, because of predictions of a lighter movement from the interior and on account of chinch bug damage in Kansas and Illinois. Fine weather and a disposition to curtail trade over the holidays acted later as an offset.

Oats followed the general course of other grain, but kept inside narrow limits with little doing.

Holders of provisions took advantage of higher hog prices and realized profits on the moderate manner. Eventually most of the active opinions were under last night's level.

Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 200,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were 572,000 bushels, compared with a holiday a year ago.

DULLEST DAY OF YEAR ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Foreign Selling of American Securities Caused Hesitation.

New York, July 3.—Affairs virtually were at a standstill today in the stock market. The principal theme was the outbreak of serious hostilities among Balkan nations and consequent depression of European exchanges. Ending of the war between Turkey and the Balkan allies and the successful conclusion of the mid-year settlements had given promise of a gradual improvement in the financial situation. Fear was expressed today, however, that the renewal of war would upset these calculations by prolonging the period of strain and delaying the return to the usual channels of Europe's hoarded millions of gold.

The immediate effect on this market was a small downward movement in sympathy with the foreign exchanges. London sold some Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific, and probably would have unloaded stocks here on a larger scale, but for the thinness of the market. Traders were not inclined to follow the course of the foreign markets. At home there were no developments on which to base any movement in stocks and the crisis in the Balkans was utilized as a bear argument. Trading, however, was entirely perfunctory.

The volume of business fell to the lowest of the year. None of the prominent speculative stocks moved up or down as much as a point. The most active issues, Steel and Reading, and professional traders were unwilling to make extensive new commitments on the eve of the holiday.

United States government bonds were unchanged. The bid price fell during 1-2 more to 99. No large transactions in government securities were reported, but it was evident that the refunding provisions of the new currency bill had caused some banks to readjust their holdings.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,116,000. United States bonds declined from 3-8to 1 point on call on the week.

London Stock Market.

London, July 3.—The stock market was weak again today on the Balkan developments and the favorable Rand labor news. Nobody wanted to buy and moderate offerings created a general impression of weakness. Realizing caused additional weakness. Consols fell 3-16 to a new record low, but recovered an eighth in the afternoon, when the sections hardened over the lowest, and, considering the unfavorable factors, the market finished comparatively steady.

American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. The holidays in New York tomorrow and Saturday restricted the dealings and prices held within a small traction of parity until late afternoon, when the market hardened slightly. The closing was quiet and steady.

Money was plentiful and discount rates were firmer.

Consols for money, 72¼; for account, 72 11-16.
Illinois Central, 114½.
Louisville and Nashville, 134½.
Southern Railway, 21⅝.
Bar silver steady at 26d per ounce.
Money, 2@2½ per cent.
Discount rates, short bills 4⅜ per cent, three months 4⅜@4 5-16.

Metals.

New York, July 3.—Copper, nominal; standard spot and futures, $17.50 bid. August, July and September, $17.87½@18.37. electrolytic, $14.75@15.00. Lake, $14.87½@15.25; casting, $14.50@14.75.

Tin, firm; spot and July, $40.25@40.50. August and September, $40.25@40.50.

Lead, quiet at $4.20@4.25.

Spelter quiet at $5.30@5.35.

HESTER'S MONTHLY COTTON STATEMENT

New Orleans, July 3.—Secretary Hester's New Orleans cotton exchange statement issued today covers the monthly movement to the close of June.

Compared with last year it shows a decrease for the month of 7,000 bales and for the season of 7,000 bales.

The total for June was 144,374, against 171,045 last year, 138,171 year before last and 203,720 same time in 1910.

The movement from September 1 to close of June, inclusive, shows receipts at all United States ports, 9,680,284, against 11,870,296 last year, 9,624,638 year before last and 10,000,000 same time 1910; overland across the Mississippi, Ohio and Potomac rivers to northern mills and Canada, 1,966,961, against 2,295,522 last year, 920,743 year before last and 794,

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

Realty agents were optimistic yesterday, as sales and exchanges aggregating $250,000 or more were announced.

The largest transfer recorded was the sale of the Byron apartments, 208 West Peachtree street, through the M. C. Kiser agency, to J. F. Bradley, of Newnan, for Byron Souders, for $150,000, or on a basis of 10 per cent gross on the purchase price. The purchaser assumes a $40,000 loan placed some time ago on the property by the Mutual Life Insurance company.

The Byron apartments adjoin the southwest corner of Linden street, which is owned also by Mr. Souders. Eighteen apartments are in the building, netting an aggregate of $15,000 yearly in rentals.

The building is one of the most attractive apartment houses in Atlanta. Situated on a lot facing 88 feet on West Peachtree, with a depth of 200 feet, it is acounted a very desirable piece of real estate. Adding to the attractiveness of the place is a large front lawn, with the building itself placed back from the street slightly, and several verandas at the front.

Large Exchange Recorded.

Another important announcement came yesterday to the effect that B. M. Grant & Co., through John M. Ponder, have sold for Dr. M. A. Massoud to Jonathan B. Frost, the northeast corner of West Peachtree and North avenue for an aggregate consideration of $44,000.

Dr. Massoud will take as part payment No. 709 Washington street, formerly the Massoud property, at a consideration of $25,000, this sale having been privately announced, and a vacant lot on the northeast side of Marietta street valued at $6,000.

The West Peachtree and North avenue property has a frontage of 68 feet on the east side of West Peachtree street, and 84 feet on the north side of North avenue. This corner was purchased three months ago by Dr. Massoud through Mr. Ponder for a consideration of $30,000.

Silvey Building Lease.

The Silvey Building company, which leased the nine-story Silvey building from the John Silvey estate, expects to sublease to various tenants, many of whom have been signed up.

The company pays an average of $11,400 per year for the building, and expects to realize nothing to receive a gross return of something like $40,000 per year.

Renovating and reconstructing work under the direction of W. E. Washburn is being rapidly pushed, and the upper stories will be ready for occupancy by October 1.

Auction Sale.

DEAR SIR—Are you in the market for peas? After one everybody wants to buy; why not have some to sell them? Can plant as late as August 10, and make bay or peas; later you plant them the faster and better they grow; can stand a little rust until the nights are cool; after watermelons are gone in South Georgia a great many people will want peas and they grow. Can furnish seed at 90c a bushel; the stubble plowed under is equal to 200 pounds of cotton seed meal to the acre. All peas have advanced 50 cents per bushel in the past few days, and I expect to see prices much higher; in fact, I look for $2 per bushel at all in July, and if you can get them I believe that you will get $3 per bushel for them. Why not buy now and save paying this high price? We have been in this business for years and know what you are getting. Some peas planted in May or June will be ripe enough to plant and harvest in September. Terms, cash with order. Manufactured by the Southern Insecta Laboratory, Box 541, Atlanta, Ga.

CAUCUS TO BIND ALL DEMOCRATS

No Senator to Be Allowed to Bolt Tariff Bill—Measure Is Completed and Ready to Be Launched in Senate.

Washington, July 3.—After three months of tinkering, democratic tariff revision at last is on the way ready for launching in the senate as the Underwood-Simmons bill. The democratic caucus of the senate late today finally approved the measure as revised by the finance committee majority and by its own action, and a final meeting of the caucus will be held Saturday, when the resolution to bind the senators to its support will be presented and adopted.

Rates Lower; Revenue More.

For the first time in history the bill as it comes through the senate revision machinery is a lower measure than passed the house, notwithstanding that the estimated revenues to be derived from the bill as it is now framed are larger by about $5,000,000 than under the measure as it came from the house. The total estimated revenue under the Underwood-Simmons measure will be, including the income tax about $310,000,000. For the first year it will be $8,000,000 greater than that, inasmuch as the senate caucus has approved the amendment of the finance committee postponing effectiveness of the cut in sugar until March 1, 1913.

Tomorrow majority members of the finance committee will meet to check up on the final draft of the bill and also to fix a date when all the schedules not specifically provided for shall be made effective.

The same of the caucus is that some time after the passage of the bill should be granted, and it is planned to fix October 1, 1913, as the date when all the new rates, except sugar, and a few other matters otherwise directed, shall become operative. As to wool, a recommendation of the finance subcommittee will be made Saturday.

Caucus to Bind Democrats.

Notice was given tonight that the resolution binding the democrats to support the bill would be introduced Saturday, and every member was urged to be present. Senators Ransdell and Thornton, of Louisiana, and Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, will not be bound. No other defection from the party ranks is expected and even Senator Hitchcock is not going to oppose the bill. If all the other senators accept the terms of the binding resolution and administration leaders are assured tonight that they would, there would be a clear majority for the bill of two democratic votes without the vote of the vice president.

The caucus resolution will pledge the members to support the bill and not to introduce no amendments and no vote against amendments offered by the republicans or by democrats who left the caucus. Another resolution which was adopted today directs the finance committee in order to expedite consideration of the bill, to interpose objection to a motion looking to bringing up anything in the senate except the tariff bill. It is proposed to cut off all long speeches in the morning hour business of the senate and keep the way clear for uninterrupted debate of the tariff measure until it has been passed. It also is proposed to hold sessions beginning at 11 o'clock as soon as the debate begins and later to begin at 10 o'clock every day.

Bill in Senate Next Week.

Senator Simmons will call a meeting of the full membership of the finance committee on Monday or Tuesday and he plans to report the bill to the senate not later than Wednesday. Then it is expected that after the democratic leaders agree to grant a few days' time for senators to prepare themselves for the debate which will begin in earnest not later than Monday, July 14. If plans of the leaders do not miscarry the bill should be passed by the middle of August. Consideration of amendments in conference can probably be disposed of in two weeks, which would give the measure to the president by the first of October, without a special session.

Some changes in rates were made in the caucus today. Wool, cotton thread which the caucus put on the free list against the recommendation of the finance committee, was, upon reconsideration, restored to the dutiable list at 15 per cent ad valorem. Iron pipes were transferred to the free list. The automobile schedule was changed, says a report, so a thousand dollars or less being made dutiable at 15 per cent, cars costing $1,500 or more than $1,000 25 per cent and cars costing more than $1500 45 per cent. Denatured alcohol and raw furs were put on the free list. The provision requiring manufacturers of sweet wines to pay the full revenue tax on brandies used in their fortification was approved by the caucus after a final protest from California congressmen, but a provision proposed which would give them two years to pay the tax was referred to the committee for recommendation to the caucus Saturday.

All other changes in rates proposed by the committee were ratified. Efforts failed to enlarge the list of articles upon which the president, under an administration amendment, would be directed to proclaim countervailing duties whenever any nation should discriminate against this country. That amendment stands as it came from the committee.

Child Labor Amendment.

Caucus approved a clause in the child labor amendment. As it now stands the amendment would prohibit the importation of goods manufactured principally by children under 14 years of age, but coming from countries which have no child labor laws. The caucus inserted the word "principally" and added the latter clause. This is not expected to operate as a strong protective measure, and is aimed chiefly at Asiatic countries.

FENCE LAW WINS OUT IN LUMPKIN COUNTY

Dahlonega, Ga. July 3.—(Special.)—A very quiet stock law election for Lumpkin county was held here today resulting in 55 majority for fence.

Five Children Burned.

Valencia, Pa., July 3.—Five children of W. A. Hays, a dairyman residing near here, were burned to death this morning. The children, Ethel, Howard, Mary, Willard and Robert Hays, were asleep in their home, while the father and mother had gone to a distant pasture field to milk. The house caught fire from an overheated stove, and before help could reach the little ones, who ranged in age from 9 months to 11 years, they were dead.

COUNCILMAN ABERNATHY UNDERGOES OPERATION

Councilman Roy Abernathy, of the seventh ward, is rapidly improving, according to reports from a private sanitarium.

The popular representative of the seventh ward was attacked several days ago, and on the advice of his physician went to the sanitarium. Surgeons declared that the attack was appendicitis and ordered an immediate operation.

Councilman Abernathy will be able to leave the sanitarium in a few days, but it will be several weeks before he is able to resume his duties in the city council.

KNOCKS SUMTER SHERIFF FOR AMERICUS LYNCHING

Grand Jury Adjourns Without Returning Single Indictment Against Any of Mobmen.

Americus, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—After having laboriously endeavored throughout four days to fix responsibility for the recent lynching of the negro, William Redding, upon the streets of Americus, the grand jury, convened in special session for this purpose, adjourned tonight without returning a single indictment against any of the mobmen.

The grand jury thoroughly examined 150 witnesses, including Sheriff Fuller, Deputy Sheriff Harvey and several ministers who had pleaded with the mob, but none could give sufficient evidence upon which to find an indictment.

The presentments returned tonight contained the following terse paragraphs:

"From the evidence before us, we are fully convinced that the sheriff and his deputies were very lax in fulfilling their duty in protecting their prisoner. Although the law is explicit that they could have summoned a posse to protect the jail, there was no evidence brought before us that they made any effort to do so, although numbers testified that they went to him and offered their services.

"While we deplore this horrible affair and have labored faithfully to obtain evidence sufficient to punish the guilty parties, we are forced to adjourn with no true bills against any one connected therewith. We have labored earnestly for four days in this matter and are satisfied that if we had had the co-operation of the public at large in our deliberation, the result would have been different."

NIGHT WATCHMAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN FALL TO BASEMENT

J. T. Harwell, aged 65, of 362 Flat Shoals avenue, was found last night lying in the basement of the old Ward-Truitt building, corner Decatur and Pratt streets, with a broken leg and shoulder blade, as a result of a fall from the first floor when he stepped through an opening from beneath which the steps had been removed.

Harwell is the watchman of the building and his fall occurred before 6 o'clock. He was due to signal the American District Telegraph office at that hour, and when at 8:30 o'clock the signal was still delayed the operator sent Inspector Edwin Flapp to investigate.

Flapp found the watchman lying in a crumpled heap on the basement floor and in an unconscious condition. He was sent to Grady hospital, where it is feared that in addition to his broken bones he has suffered internal injuries which may prove fatal.

With Ad Man as Teacher of Big Class, First Christian Works to Keep Leadership

Paul Reese, the well-known former president of the Ad Men's club, who served for several years as superintendent of the Trinity Methodist Sunday school, will teach the auditorium class of Dr. L. O. Bricker at the First Christian Sunday school next Sunday morning.

The members and workers of the First Christian Sunday school declare their intention of making the highest attendance figure for all Atlanta Sunday schools, which they have had every week for the past two months.

Rev. John S. Wood, of Atlanta, secretary of the Christian Benevolent association, will occupy Dr. Bricker's pulpit both morning and evening.

TURNER AND WILSON IN CLASH OF WORDS

Chairman Clarence Harverty had his hands full preventing a clash between City Electrician R. F. Turner and A. E. Wilson, an attorney, during the meeting of the board of electrical control yesterday afternoon.

Attorney Wilson appeared before the board representing a number of electrical contractors who are launching a fight to repeal the ordinance which requires them to give a $1,500 bond to the city. He declared the ordinance to be unconstitutional and in the course of his argument he sharply criticised the attitude of the city electrician. At times Attorney Wilson and City Electrician Turner hurled stinging rebukes across the table at each other, and both were cautioned by Chairman Harverty to eliminate personalities from the discussion.

The ordinance which was discussed by the board was framed by the city electrician and was adopted by council. More than fifteen reputable electrical contractors appeared before the committee when it was first discussed and indorsed it. Fifteen have already complied with the requirements of the law, and quite a few have notified City Electrician Turner that they will make bond before the end of the week.

As the ordinance has been adopted and passed by council the only course left open is to have some member of council ask for the repeal of the measure. The electrical board took no action Thursday afternoon.

WARRANT FOR GUS KEY IN STABBING MYSTERY

CHARGED WITH ATTACK ON 8-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Lee Keen, Threatened With Lynching, Is Caught Near Dublin.

Dublin, Ga., July 3.—(Special.)—Lee Keen, a white man, was arrested near here this morning on the charge of attempting to assault an 8-year-old white girl in this county in the town of Rockledge Tuesday night.

It is said that the child was seen with Keen about dusk in Keen's buggy. Later a noise was heard by a lady in Rockledge that seemed to come from the barn in the rear of her home. She ran to the barn and Keen, it is said, jumped from the corn crib and ran off. The child was found inside the barn crying and was taken to her grandparents.

Keen made his escape and was not found until today in an old deserted barn a few miles from Dublin. Had he been captured Tuesday night in the vicinity of Rockledge he would probably have been lynched, as the people of that town were much wrought up over the affair. Keen was lodged in jail by Deputy Sheriff Linder. Several citizens in the neighborhood where he was found assisted in the capture. He is under bond to appear in Montgomery county on the charge of being implicated in the killing of a man near Soperton a few weeks ago.

THEATERS

Talking Pictures.

(At the Grand.)

Edison's talking pictures will be the Fourth of July attraction at the Grand. The wonder of these pictures has attracted much attention. At first the people were not to believe that there could be anything perfect in the way of "talking pictures" waited for those who did believe. But now that they have the big theater commenced to get busy, and since then the house has been crowded.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

This week's vaudeville bill at the Forsyth is precisely what the doctor prescribed for that tired feeling. It is a show that has kept the cool, cosy and comfortable theater crowded at the afternoon and evening performances all week.

Edward Abeles and attractive Charlotte Lander have won attention with a bit, and it now conceded that "He Tried to Be Nice" is the very best comedy playlet that has ever been offered on a local vaudeville platform.

Violinsky is a wonder at the piano and a genius with the violin.

The bill for next week is crowded with excellent features. The two star headliners will be Cecil Lean and company in a satire called "The Moving Picture Man," and the other headliner will be Eva Tanguay and company, in "After the Wedding."

A Trip to Paris.

(At the Bijou.)

"A Trip to Paris" is proving one of the strongest drawing cards that has been offered of late at the Bijou, and patrons of this popular little playhouse have filled the theater from pit to dome at every performance, despite the warm weather of the last few days. There will be the usual performances on Friday and Saturday, with special matinees on the Fourth of July in order to accommodate the crowds. Next week's booking will bring to Atlanta the 1912 Cabaret Revue, "Along Broadway," with Will Stanton and Rosalind May heading a splendid company including a beauty chorus and several interesting vaudeville acts. Reports from other cities state that the performance is unusually meritorious, and a splendid show is promised. The week will begin with the usual matinee Monday afternoon.

MASONS HAVE CHARGE OF CORNERSTONE LAYING

Hundreds of people witnessed an impressive Masonic ceremony at the laying of the cornerstone of the new Gordon Street Presbyterian church at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon, the Battle Hill Lodge No. 523, F. & A. M. having charge of the program.

A pretty feature was the activity of the children in the exercises. They deposited many time-honored records in the cornerstone, together with a Holy Bible, the history of the church, minutes of the local presbytery, and a record of the organization and union of the old Gordon Street and Wallace Presbyterian churches. A list of all present at the ceremony, and a record of the Sabbath school officers was also encased in the cornerstone.

The exercises opened with a prayer by Rev. W. J. Sechrest. Rev. F. D. Hunt read a historical sketch of the Wallace and Gordon Street churches, which had been prepared by Carl Cunningham. The oration of the day was then delivered by Hooper Alexander.

ROBT. F. MADDOX GIVES INKSTAND TO GOVERNOR

Governor Slaton is in receipt of an elegant glass inkstand with gold and ivory trimmings, the gift of his friend, former Mayor Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta. The stand occupies a prominent place on the governor's desk, and it will contain the ink with which he will write his messages and sign bills. More ven than the inkstand the governor appreciates the following message of hearty good will that went with it:

"Dear Jack—I congratulate Georgia upon your message and the stand you took for conservation. I trust you will accept this inkstand with my best wishes. I hope from it you may pen other messages and then write your approval upon the bills which enact your policies into law. Your friends,

"ROBERT F. MADDOX."
